County Fair is shaping up

The 37th annual Wayne County Fair promises to be the biggest and best.

And, with these superlatives out of the way, Fair organizers are seeking groups and individuals to join the 4-H club floats, horse groups and bands for the parade.

The parade is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 7 at 1:30 p.m. and will line up at the Belleville High School parking lot. If you're interested in joining the fun and the parade, contact Mary Herring to 697-4835 for further information.

WCISD elects new officers

New officers of the Board of Education of the Wayne County Intermediate School District were elected for the 1983-84 school year at the organizational meeting on Friday, July 8.

Boyd Arthurs, of Trenton, was named president and Mary Blackmon, of Detroit, will serve as vice-president. The new secretary will be Armen Barsamian of Garden City. The treasurer will be Joan Hanpeter of Grosse Pointe and Geraldine Joyner, of Livonia, will be trustee.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District is a regional educational agency serving all 36 school districts in Wayne County. The five member board is elected by vote of the local school boards.

Heritage gets new equipment

The Heritage Hospital in Taylor has applied for and received approval from the Michigan Department of Public Health to purchase a mobile scintillation camera and a clinical data system for its nuclear medicine section of the radiology department.

A Certificate of Need was approved by the MDPH last month and the project should be completed sometime in July, according to hospital officials. The cost of the project is approximately $175,000.

Heritage is a member of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority.

2nd suspect charged in Dixie Cobb case

Eyewitness questioned at murder exam

BY JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

"I further declare that the deceased died by manual strangulation."

So concluded a 13-page Wayne County Medical Examiner autopsy report done by Dr. Sawain Kalnlen that became "Exhibit A" at a criminal examination for two defendants regarding the murder of Dixie Cobb of New Boston.

The conclusion contradicted the general notion that the 41-year-old woman was beaten to death in her home on Waltz Road early in the morning of June 20.

It also asks more questions as to how and when the woman was murdered and who was responsible.

Gregory Heissler, 22, and John Frye, 28, the co-defendants, made no statement at the examination held at 34th District Court in Romulus last Wednesday.

Three different witnesses were questioned regarding the events that night.

Frye, who was taken in for questioning June 25 along with Heissler following an anonymous tip five days after the murder, was released two days later. However, on July 5, the day before the criminal examination, he was arrested and arraigned before Judge James Stone, chief of the 34th District Court.

He was charged with first degree murder (premeditated) and first degree murder CSC1 (criminal sexual conduct). This second charge is for a so-called felony murder. That is, a murder committed during the commission of another felony, or murder committed during act of rape.

The charges are identical to those Heissler was arraigned on.

Why Frye was released and later arrested is not certain. Officers in charge of investigation had described Frye as an "eyewitness" along with Gerald Whitman who was at the scene of the crime.

Prosecutor Jim Collins and attorneys Earl Washington and Alan Helmkamp, representing Heissler and Frye respectively, asked questions to three witnesses, the first of whom was Jimmy Frye, the younger brother of defendant John Frye.

Jimmy Frye said he arrived at the Chop's New Boston Inn alone, at midnight, the evening of Sunday, June 19.

In the bar at that time were Gregory Heissler, of Romulus, and John Frye, and Gerald Whitman, both of Huron Township.

Jimmy Frye said he noticed Dixie Cobb for the first time around 1:30 a.m. She was seated at the bar between Heissler and himself. Heissler was talking to her but he could not hear what they were saying.

About 10 minutes after Heissler talked with Dixie Cobb, he told the examination, Heissler said to him during a game of pool: "I am going to kill that bitch."

During his two-hour stay, Jimmy Frye said he had 2 or 3 beers and he saw Heissler drink 3 or 4 beers during the same period.

About 2 a.m. Jimmy left the bar. Prior to leaving he said he saw Heissler talking to Dixie and she pulled out a $20 bill and bought Heissler a drink. The two were at the bar together when he left.

Jimmy said he was not a close friend of Heissler — he had known him for only 2 or 3 months.

As for Dixie Cobb, "I saw her in the bar a few times, but never talked to her."

About two or three days later, Jimmy Frye said he saw his brother, John, but had not seen Gregory Heissler until the criminal examination.

Gerald (Gerry) Whitman, 20, was next called to the examination, as an eyewitness to the murder.

Whitman said he knew Johnny Frye very well but was not a good friend of Gregory Heissler. He has visited at Heissler's home one time.

That Sunday evening Heissler drove Whitman over to Chop's. There were about 8 people in the bar, he said.

Whitman said he was not allowed to drink so he took sips from Johnny Frye's beer.

Heissler appeared to be intoxicated.

Attorney General, city near agreement over sewer debt fund

Representatives of the City of Romulus and the Attorney General's Office met last Friday in Lansing to discuss a solution to the city's sewer debt retirement shortage, and when the two parties dispersed Regina King, assistant to the Attorney General, said "that a solution to the problem can be worked out."

The city was ordered by the state auditors to return to the water-sewer debt retirement fund more than $1.8 million officials had transferred from it to cover operation costs by various city departments over a period of 20 years.

The practice of transferring funds from specifically designated funds to the general fund has since been stopped.

"Hopefully, a solution of this problem is near," said Ms. King, who has been charged by the Attorney General to work with the municipality on the problem. "I believe that they will come up with a suitable plan, however; that plan is up to the city council to approve and they will be responsible for it."

Council was to meet last night to discuss the plan.

Attorney E. Hammell, hired by the city in an 11th hour move to find a solution to the fiscal dilemma, met with Ms. King on Friday. Several other city officials including Mayor William Oakley and finance director Patsy Cantrell also were in on the talks.

After the meeting, Hammell said he believed that a "tentative agreement" can be worked out. He pointed to this conclusion in a letter dated July 8 and mailed to members of the council and administration.

In that letter Hammell stated that "This will confirm my understanding of the tentative agreement reached at the Attorney General's office on Thursday, July 7, relative to the City's water and sewer debt funds. I have not attempted to check exact figures at this point, and therefore the amounts that I am using are only approximate, but the principals outlined should be correct."

Hammell said that "all parties present agree that the approximate figure in question was $1,700,000. The State personnel agreed that they would permit the City to credit against the amount the debt service requirements paid in fiscal year 1982-83 and 1983-84 from the city's 10 mill general purpose Charter tax limitation."

"These two figures amounted to approximately $1,149,000," Hammell's letter continued. "In addition the City was to secure from Wayne County the $314,000 of surplus bond proceeds held, I believe, in one of the Downriver bond issue accounts, and this was to be applied against sewer debt service. This brought the total credits to approximately $1,463,000."

"At this point an alternate procedure was suggested to permit the city credit for the balance of approximately $237,000. The City could agree either that it would levy no debt service millage outside of its 10 mill Charter limit until the remaining $237,000 was applied to debt service from millage levied within the 10 mill limit, or the City could agree to levy no water debt service millage over the 10 until that differential had been covered."

According to Hammell, the state personnel appeared to prefer the second alternative, "and without deep study I probably would prefer that as well," he wrote.

Hammell said he would outline his proposal to council at the July 12 meeting and that he is ready to draft that

The look of winners

Among the hottest items in Michigan last week were tickets to the United States Football League's semi-final game at the Pontiac Silverdome, and the management of the Tin Lizzie Restaurant in Belleville offered a pair to raffle winners Georgine Kuhn of Belleville (second from left) and John Herring of Ypsilanti, who received their ducats from none other than Panther cheerleaders Grizel Davis (from left), Melissa Howard, also of Belleville, Judith Miller of Ypsilanti and Dianna Kahl of Belleville. The Michigan Panthers didn't disappoint the approximately 60,000 summer football patriots who saw the local team bury the Oakland Invaders. The victory moved Michigan into the inaugural USFL championship which will be decided on Sunday in Denver with Philadelphia offering the opposition.

Funds delayed

Super Sewer goes down the drain

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR), capitalizing on misinformation directed at the Governor's Office by the City of Detroit, has all but killed the $293 million super sewer project and some 21,000 jobs, according to a joint statement made today by Wayne County Commission Chairman William G. Suzore, Vice-Chairman Edward J. Plawewski, Jr., and the Commissioners Mary Dumas, Milton Mack and Joseph L. Jurkiewicz.

Fourteen western communities, through whose areas the 60-mile long Huron Valley sewer system would run, have already spent millions of dollars in design and engineering costs and have pledged an additional $95 million required by the MDNR in order to obtain $192,105,520 from the federal government to complete the system.

These communities are now threatening to go to court if the DNR does not fulfill its part of the bargain.

In a letter addressed to Richard T. Hinshon, MDNR Community Assistant Division Acting Chief, John E. Breen, Director of the county's Public Works Legal Services, reminded the MDNR of the contractual rights of the fourteen communities to deliver wastewater to either Wyandotte or Detroit and that the county is already a party to the proceedings in U.S. District Court to force Detroit to comply with State and Federal Regulations concerning its capacity and competence to manage its system.

"It is the prerogative of Wayne County and its communities," Breen concluded, "to determine how the areas' sewage will be treated respecting future flows not previously contracted."

Duane Egeland, Deputy Director of the Wayne County Public Works Department, said he first became aware that a serious problem was developing when the DNR refused to accept "Resolutions of Intent" originally requested from the fourteen communities by June 1st. As one community leader said, "The DNR was ready to 'cut and run' with the money (federal appropriations) right then." Quick action by Congressmen John Dingell and William Ford succeeded in getting the deadline extended to June 24, to give the communities a chance to approve "hard" contracts. The county was also required to pledge its faith but not its credit.

Then the June 24 deadline was reached, the DNR, using information provided in a June 16th letter from (See FACILITY Page 3)

Councilman asks:

Where's city cable TV?

Like many Romulus residents, councilman Barry Baumann is also wondering what's the hang-up on cable TV?

Although the city has awarded the franchise to Barden Cablevision, Baumann and the residents are still awaiting news, and first round movies, and the 50-odd channels that most cable TV companies provide.

"Where are we with cable TV?" Baumann pondered aloud last Tuesday in the City Council chambers. "I would like to get a progress report from the company we awarded the franchise to."

Baumann's motion, supported by colleague Alan Lamber, was approved by council.

Raspberry amendment OK'd

Water rates adjusted

Although the mechanics have yet to be worked out, City Council last Tuesday approved an amendment to the water-sewer ordinance offered by councilman Jimmie Raspberry to adjust rates for those services.

Presently the ordinance reads that when the Detroit Water Board increases rates, the city of Romulus passes those increases down to the consumers.

There was no adjustment clause for decreases; therefore, Raspberry recommended and received council approval for the adjustment clause.

Exam held in Dixie Cobb case

Eyewitness to murder

cated and Johnny Frye had a "buzz" on, that is, drunk, he said.

Heissler and Dixie Cobb were talking at the bar and around closing, Heissler offered to give a ride home to Johnny Frye and himself.

The three drove down Huron River Drive to the corner gas station at Waltz Road. The gas station was closed. They saw Dixie Cobb walking in the vicinity of the station. Heissler got out of the car to talk to her, according to testimony.

Whitman said that Heissler and Dixie Cobb entered her home together, located about 100 yards from the station. He and Johnny Frye followed to the house and waited outside.

About 5 or 10 minutes later, Johnny Frye entered the house, let in by Heissler, Whitman said.

And 1 to 5 minutes later, Whitman was let in by Frye after, Whitman said, he knocked on the door. "I didn't know what was going on in there," he said at the examination.

Whitman went down the basement and saw Heissler having sex with Dixie Cobb, he said. The basement was dark but he could still see.

Whitman said that after Heissler had stood up, Frye bent down to kiss her, but he struck her in the face with his open hand, Whitman said.

Whitman told the examination that Heissler said he was going to kill her and then he heard something break, like a table, and Heissler started hitting Dixie Cobb with an instrument, about two-feet long, with overhead thrusts, about three times.

Whitman said he and Frye stood by as Heissler beat her for about a minute.

Heissler then knocked the back door open and started to drag her body outside, Whitman told the court, and said he wanted Johnny Frye to help him drag her to the river and throw her in.

Before they dragged the body, Whitman said that Heissler made a threat to him: "Greg threatened me. He said if I said anything I would end up the way she was."

"I thought I saw her foot move when she was dragged across the patio," Whitman continued.

He saw the two drag her across the deck and the lawn, and he wasn't sure what happened later but it sounded as if they were falling down the hill to the river, he told the examination.

About 5 to 10 minutes later, Heissler came back and said: "I killed her," Whitman said.

Johnny Frye told him that Heissler held her under the water until the bubbles came up. Frye also told him he was holding on to Heissler at the river, Whitman told the examination.

After returning, Heissler went back in the house to wipe off prints, as they waited outside, Whitman said.

Then they all got into the car at the gas station and drove to Heissler's house on Huron River Drive in Romulus, not far beyond the Huron Township line.

All three entered Heissler's house where Heissler's wife was with another woman.

"I killed a woman," Heissler told his wife Tammy, Whitman told the court.

Whitman was asked by the prosecutor if he ever reported the crime to the police.

"I was scared to," he replied. "I was thinking about it."

Whitman told the prosecutor that Heissler had taken Dixie Cobb's purse which contained about $25 and he gave Frye and himself some of the money. Heissler then burned the purse.

Det. Sgt. Jay Dorenbecker of the State Police, Flat Rock, in charge of the investigation, was the third witness to speak.

Dorenbecker said that upon entering the scene of the crime at Dixie Cobb's home, they found a coffee table with a leg missing and blood splattered in the basement.

The leg of the coffee table was found outside the house in the yard.

Articles of her clothing were found in two separate piles in the basement. The door jamb was busted in the back, latch attached, and the screen door broken. The side door by the garage was open.

Blood was found on the patio, streaks of it all the way to the river.

The crime lab was summoned and samplings were taken of numerous artifacts.

Dorenbecker told the prosecutor he had statements on file from all the principles regarding the murder.

At the conclusion of the examination, the attorneys for the defendants made statements on behalf of their clients.

Alan Helmkamp, who was appointed July 5 by Judge Stone to be John Frye's lawyer, told Judge Henry Zaborowski that he did not believe there was sufficient evidence heard at the examination to sustain the charges Frye was arraigned on.

He cited the coroner's report that Dixie Cobb died by "manual strangulation" not drowning and that his client had only stuck Dixie Cobb once with an open hand.

Prosecutor Collins countered with a statement that Frye should be tried as charged, that according to statements made by a witness during an examination, Frye "held on to Heissler" at the river bank, assisting Heissler during the murder.

Presumably it is the precise nature of the action at the river bank which will be the target of cross-examination at the trial.

Prosecutor Collins also cited in his statement that according to the autopsy report, Dixie Cobb had an alcohol content of .32 in her blood and that a level of only .10 is regarded as intoxication. He said that in this condition, Dixie Cobb was not able to give consent to anything, including sex.

He said that Frye was a knowing accomplice, helping Heissler to drag her body, and held on to Heissler as Heissler drowned her in the river.

July 21 was set as the day of arraignment and pre-trial at Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge Zaborowski.

At that arraignment, the co-defendants, both being held without bond, will be advised of their rights.

During the pre-trial, plea-bargaining could occur where the Prosecutor would offer a reduced charge in return for a guilty plea.

If there is no plea at the July 21 pre-trial, the trial date will be set.

Judge Zaborowski, following the examination, felt it necessary to call into the courtroom the other 11 witnesses and advised them that should they come under any threat against their safety because of their participation in this trial as witnesses, they will be provided certain protection.

The examination was held before a packed courtroom. The co-defendants sitting silently during the proceeding.

Gregory Heissler is of medium height and slight build. He had long blonde hair to his shoulder, a moustache and beard.

Frye, also of medium height, has straight blondish-brown hair more than shoulder-length. His hairline is receding slightly and he wears a moustache and bushy sideburns.

The arraignment and pre-trial will begin at 9 a.m.

While the dust flies

City, county draw lines on chloriding roads

Although they came short of challenging the Wayne County Road Commissioners in the courts, Romulus City Council went on record as vocally as it could against paying for chloriding county roads with local funds.

The county is asking communities to share in the costs of eliminating the dust on county roads that run through cities.

"First of all I do not like to spend our tax dollars to chloride county roads," said Mayor William Oakley. "They are saying that they (the county) don't have the money. We don't either.

"And this 50/50 cost sharing would set a precedent that could haunt us in the future," Mayor Oakley added.

A communication from David J. Paul, Director of the Romulus Department of Public Works, to Mayor Oakley pointed out that "in order for the Wayne County road Commission to chloride the county roads in our city, the city must adopt a resolution indicating its willingness to share in the cost."

Oakley concluded "We should offer our residents who happen to live on county roads the same services as those who live on city roads. It is my recommendation that the Council adopt such a resolution."

The council hedged on giving that endorsement.

In a memorandum from Paul to Mayor Oakley, Paul said that he had discussed dust control of the county perimeter and interior roads within the boundaries of the city with Jerry Freselhouse of the Wayne County Road Commission.

"And, at this time, the county will chloride approximately three miles of roads one time this year and one time only for a cost of approximately $900," Paul stated.

The roads and area involved include Hannan Road, Vining south of Eureka to Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Road and Grant.

"This one time application will be good during the hot weather spell for a period of two weeks," Paul continued, "and after the chloride dissipates, it will be a full city responsibility for dust control of these roads."

Paul informed council that he had discussed the problem of dust control with Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack who has made a motion at the county level to chloride all the county roads. However, since the county is in deep financial trouble — one of the reasons why it is asking the cities and townships to participate in the costs — it is doubtful that that motion will receive approval.

Mack also indicated to Paul that the County Commission "does not have control over the Road Commission," and therefore he suspects that nothing will be done.

"If you decide to go with the chloride in conjunction with the county, they will need a resolution from City Council stipulating that we will accept half the cost," Paul added. "In the event that the city has to do any further dust control on county roads, it would be at our (the city's) total expense and would also require City Council approval."

The Environmental Protection Agency has the power to fine townships and municipalities if the dust threatens the life and welfare of residents. According to Councilman Barry Baumann, the city has received a violation recently.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry urged the administration to set up a meeting with the Road Commission to try to solve the problem. His recommendation, put in a form of a motion, was supported by councilman John Lewkowicz.

Baumann reiterated that he definitely was not in favor of chloriding "county roads with our money."

Councilman Pete Bergeron reminded his colleagues of "their responsibility to the citizens of this city."

"Our share is $450 and we have a responsibility to this community and if we have to do it, then we should go along with the recommendation," Bergeron concluded.

Super Sewer goes down the drains

Detroit's Water and Sewer Director Charlie J. Williams, opted to divert the funds to outstate communities. This served to relieve political pressure from those areas and at the same time to satisfy Detroit Mayor Coleman Young who, Suzore said, is trying to keep his own inadequate system intact.

The four county commissioners and the county Public Works Department have released a paper which charges that Detroit used threats of reprisals if the DNR did not accept its recommendations and refuses — point by point — Detroit's arguments as follows:

1. Erroneous Statement

The HVVWCS will separate wastewater flows of the Rouge Valley communities from the Rouge Valley District now under contract with the DWSD for treatment service.

Fact

The contract between the DWSD and Wayne County for service for the sixteen (16) Rouge Valley communities requires the City of Detroit to accept flows from the Rouge Valley District up the specified peak flows, but does not establish any requirement for Wayne County to deliver any wastewater to the DWSD. There is no intention, however, to divert flows which communities have contracted with Wayne County to deliver to Rouge Valley Interceptors. Accordingly, most of the flow currently being discharged to the DWSD System from Huron Valley communities will continue to be discharged to the DWSD System.

2. Erroneous Statement

The DWSD has raised objections to the intended separation at every opportunity during the planning for the HVVWCS System.

Fact

As previously stated, there is no intention to divert flows which the DWSD has contracted to receive from the Rouge Valley System. It should be noted, however, that North Area Facilities Planning was conducted in accordance with EPA requirements for a major public participation program and despite issuance of numerous newsletters and holding of several meetings during the course of the 30-month study, the DWSD did not make any comments on the project until the last few weeks before the study was completed. This was long after the alternatives, which it now seems to endorse, were publicly evaluated and eliminated from consideration because of obvious deficiencies.

3. Erroneous Statement

Updated projections of populations and flows do not support the 1979 "Super Sewer" plan.

Fact

Flows used for the current facilities plan are based on updated population projections provided by SEMCOG, and the current loading of the Rouge Valley System was determined by actual flow measurement.

4. Erroneous Statement

An Alternative excluding the Northern and Middle Area of the HVVWCS System study area was authorized to be designed during the Step II work.

Fact

Facilities in the Middle and South Areas designed to serve the North, Middle and South areas were authorized to be designed during the Step II work.

5. Erroneous Statement

The only justification for separating the North and South service areas is to obtain the relief of financial costs for the new "Supersewer" System for diverting flows from existing systems into said "Supersewer."

Fact

Once again, there is no intention to divert flows which the DWSD has contracted to receive from the Rouge Valley System. Additional flows cannot be discharged to the Rouge Valley Interceptors; 1.) without causing additional pollution of the Middle and Lower Rouge Rivers; and 2.) without the approval of the sixteen (16) communities in the Rouge Valley System, several of which have already indicated that they would not give such approval. These are only two of the many reasons that the North Service Area Facilities Plan recommended that additional North Area flows be diverted to the Huron Valley System.

Implication

There is also an implication in the letter that the HVVWCS System study area has been represented to DWSD bond buyers as being in the DWSD service area.

Fact

We are aware of no contractual arrangements or even communications which would support this contention.

"Given the totally erroneous assumptions on which the DWSD recommendations are based, they should be ignored by the MDNR," Suzore asserted, adding, "Our attorneys have examined the various steps which the DWSD has threatened to pursue if its recommendations were not followed and found them to be without substantive legal basis and accordingly, the MDNR should not be intimidated by such hollow threats."

Super Sewer runs roughly from Commerce Township in Oakland County, south 60 miles along the western border of Wayne County to the Detroit River. Among the participating cities and townships are Commerce Township, Novi, Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren, Huron, Brownstown Townships, Romulus, South Rockwood (Monroe County), Woodhaven, Gibraltar, Flat Rock and Wixom.

"It isn't simply a matter of money," Egeland pointed out. "The DNR wants participation from all communities in order to solve the pollution problem. In their opinion unless they all take part, the problem won't be solved."

According to Egeland, the feds have already given the County $75 million for Phase I and Congressional Authorization for an additional $46.296 million for Phase II and $75 million for Phase III. The fourteen communities, combined, will provide $37.491 million for Phase I; $26.662 million, Phase II; and $32.351 million for Phase III.

"The project could be completed without Phase III funds," Egeland said, "by reducing the size of the interceptors, so money, right now, is not the hangup, it's the DNR which is under pressure to take the project money and spend it out-state. They claim we are getting a disproportionate share of federal funds. We claim we haven't had a fair share for the past ten years."

Don Ringle, Oakland County Engineer in charge of that portion of the project, agreed.

The Huron Valley Wastewater Control system (HVVWCS) was conceived in 1959 as a final link to Wayne County's long-range plan to provide efficient and economical disposal facilities for all county communities. Egeland said the system was needed to reduce or eliminate health hazards and deterioration of surface and groundwater quality and that the DNR has notified most of the cities and townships in west and south Wayne County that unless the problems listed are solved, a ban on construction of new sewers in the area will be imposed.

The project will generate from 21,000 to 24,000 annual jobs — more jobs than any other project.

Huron school board re-elects officers

All officers of the Huron School Board were re-elected to their posts at the organizational meeting Monday night.

Re-elected were Jim W. Pershing, president; Larry O'Kelley, vice-president; Jacqueline Drengansky, secretary; and Gary Tobin, treasurer.

The Board also voted to maintain every third Monday of the month for its regular board meeting, at 8 p.m. in the high school lecture hall.

Security Bank was voted as depositor for all funds of the Huron School District. The Romulus Roman was retained as the official school paper for publication of its legal notices.

The tuition rate for out-of-district students was maintained at $125 per year per student; with a $250 maximum per family.

tirement fund was short $2,117,348.25.

The auditors recommended the immediate transfer of city funds to cover the shortage. It was that audit that led to the Attorney-General Office's intervention in the city's financial affairs.

Fire guts Mark Chevy building

An early morning fire Sunday destroyed the annex building of Mark Chevrolet on Michigan Avenue in Wayne. Firefighters from Wayne, Canton and Westland battled the blaze which totally destroyed the structure and five new 1983 Camaros that were stored inside.

The building, near the main Mark showroom, was used as a sports car and truck center for storage and sales, a dealership spokesman noted.

There were no injuries reported in the fire, reported at 2:32 a.m. Sunday. The cause and total dollar value of the damage are still undetermined.

County seeks double-bunking for over-populated new jail

Wayne County's newly created Corrections Council, faced with the initial problem of over-populated jail facilities, agreed Wednesday, to seek double-bunking options from the State Corrections Commission as a temporary solution while they develop plans for alternative sentencing procedures and pre-trial diversion programs.

Designed to help fill the vacuum of the recently disbanded Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, the Corrections Council is the offspring of a recent County Resolution sponsored by Commissioners Mary E. Dumas, Jackie L. Currie and John C. Hertel and is charged with developing a comprehensive corrections plan for the county with long-range goals including pre-trial and post-trial sentencing alternatives, conditional release for low-risk prisoners, alternative corrections facilities, and revised bond procedures.

Judge Richard D. Dunn, Chief Executive Judge of Wayne County Circuit Court and Recorder's Court and Judge Samuel Gardner, Chief Judge of Detroit's Recorder's Court told council members, Wednesday, that the prisoner population was nearing another crisis stage, and that the present corrections system was an "abysmal failure." Both have agreed to lend their expertise in developing plans that would provide ways to handle minor offenders other than "sticking them in the pokie."

Judge Dunn, who has jurisdiction over the county jail operation, said there would be violent opposition to the double-bunking issue by attorneys representing the prisoners, and that he could not personally take part in petitioning for double-bunking, although he said he felt the county had a perfect right to request it.

Judge Dunn pointed out that the current jail population has reached 994, and that the worst months are just ahead. "I'm very hesitant in ordering local communities to begin holding prisoners," he said. "I've ordered the Sheriff not to accept any more misdemeanants unless I order him to, and I see no reason why they (minor offenders) can't be used to clean up our highways during the day. The public should expect something for the money they spend to house them. We don't have the money to operate two jails and we certainly can't go to the taxpayers for more," he added.

Supporting Judge Dunn, Sheriff Robert Ficano told the group, "I was dumbfounded to discover that there are no funds to even maintain the new jail. I reviewed provisions of the millage used to pay for the new 13-story jail, and found it was to include both, construction and maintenance costs. There is barely $113,000 left in the account." Based on a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing double-bunking in Ohio prisons, Ficano said that he has already requested that option from the Michigan Corrections Commission meeting next month in Ann Arbor.

Seek solutions to problems of education

Romulus educator named to WS panel

Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, Assistant Superintendent of Romulus Schools, has accepted an appointment to a Commission on Excellence in Education established by President Adamany of Wayne State University. The commission was formed to focus on questions raised by the National Commission on Excellence in Education created by President Reagan. The latter evaluated the quality of the American education system and recently published a report entitled, "A Nation at Risk: The Imperative for Educational Reform."

The report raised some serious questions about K-12 education.

Dr. Adamany's commission will focus on questions as they relate to Southeastern Michigan.

The committee will begin its work by participating in a working conference which will focus attention on the report, on July 12-13 on the campus of Wayne State University.

Arthur McPharlin, Principal of Hale Creek School, will join Dr. LeCesne as an alternate to represent the school district. The proposed outcome of the conference is to develop specific recommendations for follow-up by committee representatives.

The conference is jointly sponsored by Wayne State University, the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies and the Michigan Department of Education.

Has death knell sounded for county hospital?

Commissioners defeat Beard ordinance by one vote

Wayne County still has more work ahead producing an ordinance on public hospital facilities that will satisfy provisions of the new County Charter along with that, determine the future of the County General Hospital.

Last week the ordinance before the County Commission failed by one vote amidst dispute over who should control the hospital — the County Executive or the County Commission, and how the governing authority should be divided between Detroit and out-county interests. The ordinance was six months in development and was proposed by the Commission's Human Resources Committee.

Discussion on the matter required two recesses and an unsuccessful attempt to pass the item for the day before its defeat by a vote of 7-3 with three abstentions. An eight vote majority is needed for approval on the 15-member Commission.

The center of the dispute is one paragraph in the proposed eight-page document for selecting representatives on the five-member Board of Institutions, the day-to-day governing body of the facility. Describing failure of the ordinance Commission Chairman William G. Suzore said: "Several commissioners think all the appointments should be made by the CEO (County Executive Bill Lucas, some feel all should be by the County Commission, and some believe the governing board ought to be split

3-2 in favor of Detroit."

The ordinance submitted called for a Board of Institutions with three members appointed by a majority of the commissioners and two by the CEO. The dispute arose when Commissioner Arthur M. Carter, from Detroit, proposed an amendment that would have all five members of the Board of Institutions appointed by the CEO from 15 nominees of the commissioners, and that two of the five should reside outside the City of Detroit.

"I'm extremely disappointed," said Commissioner Kay L. Beard afterwards. "I've been working on this since the first of the year, and I think it is a good ordinance. I think it protects the poor and I think it protects the employees as well."

In addition, said

Mrs. Beard, the Chairman of the Human Resources Committee, she thinks the ordinance proposed also protects the hospital from being closed by the Lucas administration.

The future of the financially ailing hospital has been tenuous for decades, and especially since inception of the new charter which requires an ordinance providing for public hospital facilities only, not necessarily a particular hospital or any hospital.

Under Commission rules of procedure, a new ordinance proposal is now needed, and can originate with the Human Resources or at the full Commission level to be referred back to the committee.

Busy summer at Emmanuel Baptist

Emmanuel Baptist Church on Huron River Drive in Belleville and Rev. Edgar J. Roberts are in the midst of a busy summer.

The church offers Bible Teaching (Sunday School) classes for all ages from birth through senior adults. There are Sunday morning and evening worship services, Wednesday evening prayer, and Bible Study services.

The church also invites residents to a Christian Love In Action (CLIA) ministry to provide emergency food to area needy families, and a Vacation Bible School is being planned for children ages 3-17 to be held Aug. 8 through Aug. 12.

Roberts, pastor of Fairview Avenue Baptist Church in Detroit for over 20 years, came to Michigan from Tennessee in 1943. He also pastored the Glen Eden Baptist Church in Taylor, and was director of building and remodeling at Bambi Lake Baptist Assembly near Roscommon. After leaving the Bambi Lake staff, he returned to Fairview Avenue Church to serve as Minister of Education in 1978 until his call to Emmanuel in March.

Roberts brings many years of experience to his new pastorate. His expertise in Church Administration, Church Training, Bible Teaching, as well as preaching and ministry skills, is well established in the Detroit association.

Roberts says, "a church that practices prayer, lives in faith, works diligently, and loves one another and those in the community, will grow."

Emmanuel has been active in the Belleville area Ministerial Association, taking part in joint Lenten and Thanksgiving services and fund raisers for the needy.

Ruark receives degree

CHEWING WITH DENTURES

If you have full dentures, are you chewing properly? If you aren't, you may be inadvertently damaging bone and supportive tissue. You should be chewing straight up and down and placing equal weight on both sides of the jaw. Food should be divided equally between the left and right sides of your mouth and be chewed at the same time. Why is it so important to chew "straight" and "equal"? For one thing, if you chew more on one side than the other, or chew with a side-to-side motion, this can cause your dentures to slip. Even more important, it can cause wear and damage to the tissue supporting the dentures as well as bone loss.

And even though you've been together all day, don't take your dentures to bed with you. You both need a rest. This respite is good for the blood supply and tissue in the supporting gums. Also, your dentist can show you how to brush the soft tissues underneath your dentures to help keep this area in good condition.

'Good old days are back' in Romulus

Biltwel offers 3-bedroom ranch homes from $39,000

Despite gloom-and-doom forecasts about the working family being priced out of the new home market, it is still possible to have a new, 3-bedroom home for under $40,000.

Models of three-bedroom ranches, starting at $39,900, have just opened in Applewoode subdivision in Romulus. It's been at least 15 years since homes of this nature have been offered at this price.

for shopping facilities and a number of churches. The model will be open daily and Sunday. Call 941-1434 or 855-4343 for information.

Gary Bates is the impetus behind the newly-formed Huron Chamber of Commerce.

Bates heads up Huron Chamber of Commerce

By JERRY DESHARNAIS (Special ANP Writer)

The Huron Township Chamber of Commerce was formed only within the past half year.

The President of that young organization is Gary Bates, 41, a businessman who operates the Grass Roots Nursery on Bell Road.

He is also a Trustee on the Township Board.

We have asked Gary Bates to tell how the Chamber was started and to discuss its goals.

About two years ago, a group of us businessmen sat down and concluded we needed to be organized, let's say to look out for and promote our common interests.

And like anything else, it went through the talk stage for a good period of time until we got serious about it.

We put a little notification in a newspaper two years ago and asked people to express their interest and to call a phone number but we didn't get much response that way.

Last November, about a half dozen of us decided it was the time to do it. We each threw $100 into the pot and said let's get started.

Well that mulled along for a couple of months just through the organizational procedure and we found a total of nine people who were interested in getting involved in it.

We automatically became the Board of the Chamber of Commerce because of the numbers. Typically a Chamber board has 9 to 15 members.

Those nine are myself, serving as President; Durrell Williams, Vice President; Michael Bannoura, Second Vice President; Robert M. Grozenski, Secretary-Treasurer.

Serving as directors are Peter J. Glaab Jr., Sandra Johnson, Richard Mans, Barbara Reinhold, and Ralph Schwartz.

Marie T. Sidun is the Executive Secretary.

We had our first board meeting February 7, and on March 24 we had our first general meeting with approximately 80 people in attendance at the Waltz Hall.

Since then we have had a general meeting the third Wednesday of each month and a board meeting on the first Wednesday of each month.

At the April meeting we joined the Western Wayne County Council of Chambers and that's an interesting group because they are involved in lobbying for things such as road improvements in various communities, backing up the interests of the communities.

They are also generally interested in promoting business in the communities, whether it is Livonia, Inkster, or whatever.

One of the problems which we recognized in our April meeting was "Where is New Boston and whoever heard of it?" and "Where's Waltz and whoever heard of it?"

So we proceeded to use our newly elected legislator, Richard Sullivan, in making some contacts with the Highway Department, trying to get signs on the expressway (I-275) to notify people that these communities do exist.

The Highway Department sent us a letter back saying they couldn't do a sign for Waltz because of the size of it, and New Boston already had a sign.

We informed them New Boston wasn't signed and if it were ever signed we never saw it.

But it is signed now. So we got some signs put in which is a start. These people on the expressway know where New Boston is now.

At the April meeting we also talked about a sign project to identify the town of Waltz and (See Huron, Page A-10)

A picnic's nuthin' without chicken!

Fried chicken is an anytime picnic, indoors or out, simply because it's a family favorite.

With Crispy Fried Chicken made with coating for chicken, you can indulge your family anytime, because the time and effort involved in traditional frying is eliminated. Prepared with the crispy crumb recipe, the chicken is moistened in an egg and water mixture, coated with the packaged mix and fried — in the oven! The result — chicken pieces that are tender and moist inside, crisp and crunchy outside.

Take advantage of the supply of fresh produce in local markets and make your own Orangy Coleslaw. It's great with fried chicken and assorted relishes. Pass the paper plates and you've got a picnic!

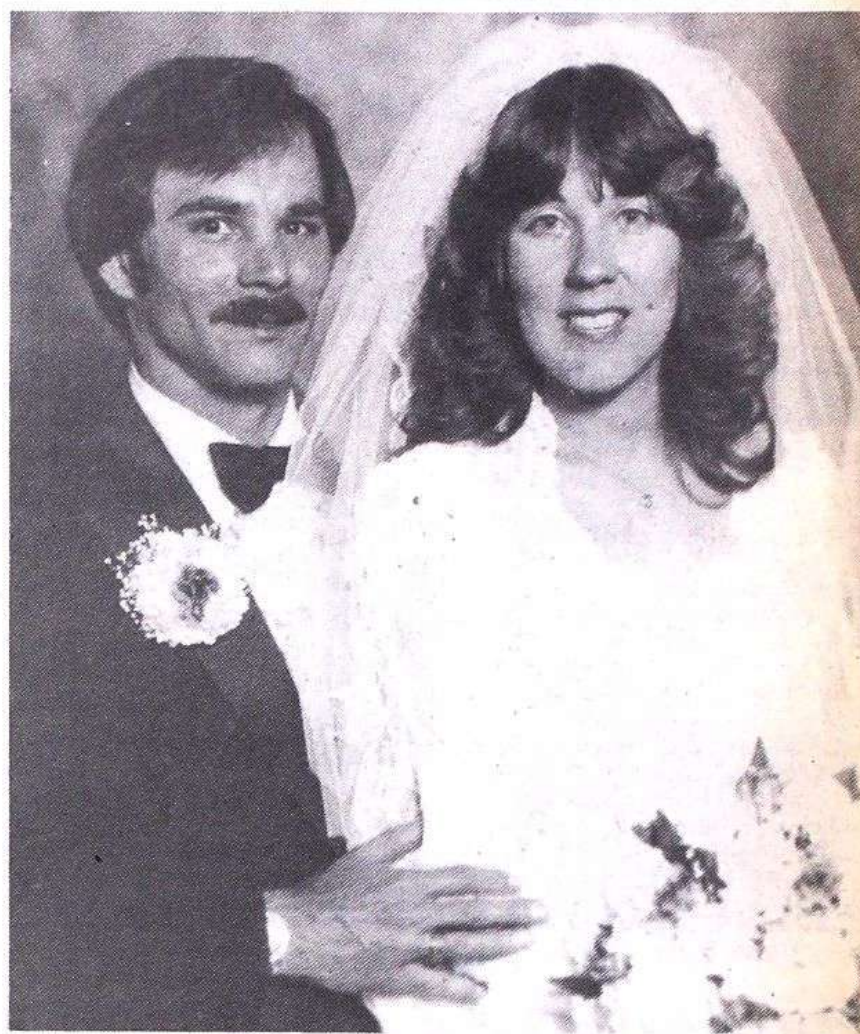

Crispy Fried Chicken

1 packet Oven Fry coating for chicken, crispy crumb recipe
1/2 cup oil or melted shortening
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
2 1/2 pounds chicken pieces
Preheat oven to 400°. Empty packet of coating onto a sheet of waxed paper or into a shallow bowl. Spread oil in a 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan. (A flat-bottom pan with sides not more than 1 inch deep gives best results.) In a large bowl, beat egg with a fork; add water and blend. Add all the chicken and toss gently to moisten each piece on all sides. Starting with large pieces, place chicken in coating, one piece at a time. Pile coating on chicken, then press firmly on all sides until the piece is thickly and evenly covered. Place chicken in pan, skin side down. Fry in oven 25 minutes, then turn and fry 25 minutes longer, until chicken is tender. Remove from pan immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Orangy Coleslaw

4 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 cup shredded carrots
2 tablespoons Tang orange flavor instant breakfast drink
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon water
1/4 cup salad oil
Combine cabbage and carrots in bowl; set aside. Combine instant breakfast drink, celery seed, salt and pepper in-cruet or small jar with tightly fitting cover. Add water and shake until instant breakfast drink is dissolved. Add oil and shake again. Pour over cabbage mixture; mix well. Makes about 4 cups or 6 to 8 servings.

MR. AND MRS. PATRICK MARKUS

Markus-Hoffman vows exchanged at St. Aloysius

St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus was the setting May 7 for the double ring wedding which joined Jean Hoffman and Patrick Markus in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Walter Leuchowski presided at the three o'clock rite at which Pat Hogan was soloist, his numbers being "Just You and I" and "You Light Up My Life."

The daughter of Charles Hoffman of Romulus, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. Carrying a cascade bouquet of white roses and carnations, peach rosebuds and baby's breath, she appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace designed with a Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves on the little fitted bodice, her full lace skirt cascading into a cathedral-length train as she walked.

The quartet of bridal attendants donned Victorian-style gowns of apricot polyester fashioned with empire waistlines and held bouquets of yellow daisies, peach roses, apricot carnations and baby's breath.

Andrea Bledsoe of Romulus was chosen to be maid of honor with Jo Ann Woodworth of Romulus and Gloria Schroeder of Brooklyn, Mich., sisters of the bride, and Gerry Johnson of Dearborn Heights, the bridegroom's sister, completing the group.

Five-year-old Laura Schroeder wore a long hoop-skirted apricot frock for her role as flowergirl. She added a halo of baby's breath to her hair and carried a basket filled with apricot and white carnations and baby's breath.

The bridegroom, the son of Mike and Eileen Markus of Romulus, asked his friend, Bob Green of Romulus, to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Dave Allisson of Romulus and Harry Johnson of Dearborn Heights and Jim Markus of Romulus brother-in-law and brother of the bridegroom, respectively.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Club, the bridegroom's mother greeted guests in a floor-length accordion-pleated purple gown to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations and purple rosebuds.

Since returning from a week-long honeymoon in Virginia Beach, Va., the newlyweds have made their home in Romulus where the bridegroom is employed by American Hospital Supply. The new Mrs. Markus works at Amerford International Corporation of Taylor.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at their home in Romulus.

New on the scene

Katie Marie Stone

Her name is Katie Marie Stone and her debut on June 21 turned the couple who reside at 49070 Denton Road, Apt. 37, Belleville — Scott and Linda Stone — into an instant family.

The newcomer, who weighed 5 lbs. - 15 ozs. and measured 19 inches, arrived at 3:18 p.m. at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

The couple's first child, she is also a "first" for her proud grandparents, Bill and Lella Stone of Belleville and Henry and Dolores Kubisiak of Newport.

Great-grandparent honors go to Pauline Stone of Archer, Fla. and Frank and Arla Brady of Harper Woods.

Katie's mom is the former Linda Kubisiak.

Joseph David Dargo Jeffrey Michael Dargo

Jeffrey Michael and Joseph David are the surviving members of triplet sons born June 17 to Jim and Janet Dargo of Martinsville Road, Belleville. Their brother, Joshua Alan, lost his valiant struggle to survive on June 27.

Arriving at the University of Michigan Hospital, Jeffrey bowed in at 9:22 p.m. and Joseph at 9:26 p.m. They are the future playmates of Jonathan Dargo, who's 2 1/2 years old.

The boys are the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Modzelewski and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dargo, all of Belleville.

Their great-grandparents include Mrs. Joseph Tupacz and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Babik, all of Belleville, and Mrs. Frank Modzelewski of Detroit.

Stephen Ryan Maniaci

"It's a boy!" is the word that went out in mid-June to friends and relatives of Dominic and Maureen Maniaci of 11888 Harbor Ln., Belleville.

Prompting the announcement was the birth of their 8 lb. - 6 oz. son, Stephen Ryan, who measured 21 inches in length when he bowed in June 18 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The couple's first child, he is the fourth grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan of Fremont. His late paternal grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Maniaci of Detroit.

Taking honors in the great-grandmother division is Mrs. Dorothy Porter also of Fremont.

The new heir's parents are both on the teaching staff at Haggerty Elementary School.

Jeremy David Hodges

The birth of their first child, a son, is announced by Hugh and Kim Hodges of Ypsilanti.

The newcomer, who was titled "Jeremy David", arrived May 25 at University of Michigan Hospital where his weight was recorded at 9 lbs. - 5 1/4 ozs. and his length at 18 3/4 inches.

Jeremy is the new grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hodges of Mt. Clemens and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Loggans of Sumpter.

He also has a set of great-grandparents living in Kingsport, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Munsey.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

What would we do without the weather to rave about or gripe about; praise or knock; like or dislike; look back on or forward to — what on earth would we introverts have to talk about were it not for the elements?

If you were among the moaners and groaners when our local temps soared to a mere 97 or so just awhile back, how'd you like to have been at the Greenland Ranch in Death Valley when it suffocated under the highest temperature ever recorded in the United States — 134 degrees? You might still be dazed had you been in Aziaia, Libya (and melted) when its 136 degrees topped all records ever set anywhere.

Lots of people (yours truly included) complain about Michigan winters — with the exception of last year's — but think how warm we have it when you compare our state with Prospect Creek Camp, Alaska. It set the nation's record when the mercury dipped to a bone-rattling 80-below.

If you're not big on the changes in the thermometer, make Houston, Texas or Honolulu, Hawaii your home. The pair have the highest average annual temperature — 76.1 — and nearly ideal weather.

Miami, Florida records the country's most days of rainfall if it's a "dewy" look you're after. It rains there 59 days out of the year.

For communicating with El Sol, give Phoenix, Arizona a go — it totes up the most days of sunshine — 213 on an average.

And when you look back at the weather this peninsula has been offering us of late, 'tain't all bad, is it? On the night this was penned, we actually attended an evening patio party with almost perfect conditions from the meteorologists — and nary a mosquito to mar the proceedings.

FOR YOUR RECIPE FILE

AT THAT PATIO PARTY I mentioned earlier, I tracked down the gal who'd contributed the delicious broccoli we were enjoying so much — a casserole with crunchy water chestnuts added for a contrast in textures. She very kindly jotted down the ingredients for me to share with all you recipe collectors. With the broccoli season in full swing, you'll want to try this one.

COMPANY BROCCOLI

2 pkgs. frozen chopped broccoli, cooked and drained. (Fresh broccoli can also be used in the same way.)
1 small can evaporated milk
1 can cream of mushroom soup
7-8 slices American cheese
1 can sliced water chestnuts
1 can onion rings

Place broccoli in casserole, mix milk and soup and pour over. Layer cheese slices, then water chestnuts and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes, topping with onion rings for the final five minutes.

TAKING STOCK

IF I COULD OWN stock in any one company at this setting, it would be Hallmark.

On viewing a display of anniversary cards at our house recently, a friend remarked on how much money had been spent on them; that she, herself, had calculated the cost of cards that'd arrived at their home in recent weeks. I later did a bit of figuring on those collected from only four May-June special events — BG's birthday, mine, Father's Day and our anniversary. All tolled, there was something close to $40 in printed greetings; most of 'em bearing the aforementioned logo.

When I continue to mentally tally what a bundle had been amassed for "M's" recent wedding and showers; what came in at Valentine's Day, Easter and Mother's Day, I think I just might like to be a shareholder in any greeting firm.

IN RESPONSE...

IF NOTHING ELSE, this column serves as a communications system for long-lost cousins. As a result of the recent "potpourri" on paperdolls, I received a card and note from my "let's pretend" partner of so-o-o long ago; a former Romulusite now transplanted in Almont. Thanks, Cuz.

Since this newspaper also finds its way to Sheboygan, Wisconsin, it means I'm being monitored by my favorite Hungarian fella who always has something kind to say about "potpourri." (Even in the northern territory, he manages to keep his southern tan.)

I even eat up those "left-handed" compliments doled out by good ol' D.W. (who, for some strange reason, equates me with a syndicated columnist.) Stopping in at the office last week, he announced that after the Foodville ad he always managed to read "Belleville's answer to Ann Landers."

THE BOTTOM LINE: The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions, running down their friends, side-stepping responsibility and pushing their luck.

Quotes worth quoting . . .

"Men tire themselves in pursuit of rest."
Laurence Sterne said it.

Local secretaries to attend Minneapolis PSI convention

Official delegate will be Alvina Lingle, chapter president who is secretary to William Tyler, and Elaine Dailey, vice-presidents, McKinley Associates, Inc. Alternate delegate will be Linda Slagle, chapter president-elect, secretary to District Department Head, Michigan Bell Co.

Accompanying the delegation will be Stella Hackbarth, chapter treasurer who is secretary to Donald J. Proulx, M.D., Ypsilanti Regional Psychiatric Hospital, and Joyce Scott, past president and member of the International Secretary of the Year Committee and chapter membership chairman who is secretary to Paul Robertson, Robertson-Morrison, Inc.

Keynote speaker for the convention will be Gerald L. McManis, president of McManis Associates Inc., Washington, D.C., management and research consultants. Since its founding in 1964, McManis Associates has worked with many associations to evolve strategic development plans for the future.

Professional Secretaries International is the world's leading association for secretaries with 40,000 members in more than 800 chapters located throughout the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, and 34 affiliate chapters in Australia, Asia, Europe, Central and South America, the West Indies, and South Africa.

Krug duo makes Honors List at CMU

Karen E. Krug and Kevin R. Krug, both students at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, were notified by James L. Hill, Vice-president for Student Affairs, that they were academically among the top 10 percent in their respective junior and freshman classes. Their cumulative grade point averages made them eligible to be placed on the 1983 Winter Semester Honors List.

Both young people are graduates of Belleville High School, their parents being Dick and Evelyn Krug of Ryznar Drive, Belleville.

Karen, who is president of Kappa Omicron Phi and a member of the National Honor Society, was the recent recipient of the Helen Lohr Scholarship ($300) which is to be used to continue her studies in consumer affairs.

Kevin was recently selected to receive the Department of the Army Superior Cadet Award for outstanding performance in Military Science. His parents were among the approximate 200 guests who attended the ROTC's annual Commissioning and Awards Ceremony in the auditorium of the University Center on CMU's campus.

Residence Hall scholarship given

Lori Vicchy of Belleville was among 110 Central Michigan University students awarded a 1983 Residence Hall Scholarship.

Miss Vicchy, a freshman, is a dietetics major at CMU. She is the daughter of Sam and Sue Vicchy.

An approximate total of $55,000 was awarded to the 110 students. The award is based on outstanding leadership activities and any work the student has done to benefit residence hall living.

The recipients were chosen by the director and assistant director of housing and the Residence Hall Assembly, which is made up of CMU students.

David Floyd is Grace graduate

David K. Floyd of Romulus was one of 114 students who received Bachelor of Science degrees at the recent spring graduation exercises at Grace College in Winona Lake, Ind.

David, the son of The Rev. and Mrs. Robert N. Floyd of 21891 Riviera Dr., Romulus, majored in speech and psychology. Dr. Homer A. Kent, Jr., president of Grace College, conferred degrees on a record total of 179 graduates.

Grace College is a four-year coeducational, Christian school of the Arts and Sciences, offering the B.A. and B.S. degrees and the Associate of Science degree in Nursing.

To avoid stings — avoid insects!

The best way to avoid being stung by yellow jackets and other social wasps is to avoid contact with the insects. Avoiding them can sometimes be difficult, however, especially in late summer when wasp numbers are highest.

Gary Dunn, Extension entomologist at Michigan State University, says yellow jackets often become pests in late summer. Colonies that began in the spring with just the queen (the fertile female) may number hundreds or even thousands of individuals by August or September. Nests of one common species are often constructed in or near houses and other structures, so large numbers of wasps may be coming and going through the outdoor living area.

Reduce the likelihood of being stung by following these guidelines:

- Keep skin covered with a long-sleeved shirt and long pants. Wear gray, tan or white rather than bright colors and vivid prints, and avoid wearing shiny buckles or jewelry. Wear a hat and closed shoes rather than sandals.

- Avoid the use of scented cosmetics, hair spray, after-shave lotion and similar products.

- Keep garbage in tightly covered containers, and clean up any spilled food, especially protein foods (meat scraps, ice cream, etc.).

- When eating outdoors, keep all food covered, clean up spills and dispose of refuse in tightly sealed containers. Kill intruder wasps rather than merely chasing them away.

- If a bee or wasp hovers around you, slowly raise your arms to protect your face. Then stand still or move slowly indoors or through some bushes to get away. Rapid movement often provokes attack.

- If a bee or wasp gets into your house or car, don't panic. Stop the car when you can do so safely and open doors and windows to let the insect escape. Likewise, wasps in houses only want out. Provide them with an exit and they probably won't bother you on the way out.

Descendants of Lina and Joseph Monks met for a reunion June 19 at the Hamsen House on Herby Road.

Some 90 people were present, including the Monks' eight children. Returning for the reunion were Jennie Brenner from Ohio; Helen Petraska of Romulus; Mary Hansen of Canton; Violet Monks of Florida and Marion Mazzo from Long Island, New York. Belleville residents attending were Dorothy Elliott, Cora Warner and Arthur Monks. While here, Violet and Marion were guests of the Warners.

Mrs. Jim Schultz celebrated her birthday June 29 with her husband and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Schultz of Westland, Mary Korgal and her children Laurie and Marcy, and Mrs. Frances Korgal. Ice cream and cake were enjoyed by all.

Clinton and Ruth Baehr traveled to Arlington, Va. to attend a United Air Retired Employees Convention. Later they motored to Norfolk, Va. to visit their grandson Donald Baehr and his family. Donald is stationed at the Navy base in Norfolk.

Andrea Schultz celebrated her 11th birthday on the Fourth of July with a cook-out, ice cream and cake. Joining her and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schultz of Hoelt Road, were her two sisters and brother; her grandmother Mrs. Frances Korgal and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Korgal.

Clinton and Ruth Baehr traveled to Ann Arbor June 16 to attend the graduation of their granddaughter Dawn Abbe from Huron High School.

Bradley Munce of Brighton spent several days recently with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDougal and daughters, Brenda and Kim, along with their family friend, Anastasios "Taso" Dres, traveled to Springfield, Ind. for the Fourth of July weekend to visit with family and friends.

Approximately 40 Rainbow Girls, advisors and family members met at the home of the Mother Advisor, Mrs. Connie Gubaci, for their annual Founder's Day and graduation picnic. After a delicious cook-out the girls and their advisors met on the baseball diamond for a softball game which was won by the Rainbow Girls 12-5. Rhonda Claxton was the honored graduate at the picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bullock and sons recently traveled to Tennessee and Virginia to visit relatives.

Family members and friends gathered at the home of Robert and Rose Welt for a Fourth of July cook-out. Attending were Stella Neely of Westland; Esther Vander-Voort of New Boston; Wesley, Phyllis, and Dawn Talbot of Dearborn; Harold and Ruby Clayton of Belleville; Bradley Munce of Brighton and Lucrecia and Richard Vander Voort of Austin, Tex.

Pauline and Edgar Quinley have returned from Corbin, Ky. where they have been since the passing of Pauline's father several weeks ago.

—Short subjects—

- Put variety in your summer salads by combining fruits and vegetables. The home economists at Lawry's Foods suggest cucumbers and papaya, potatoes and apples, oranges and spinach, pineapple and green peppers or oranges, red onions, grapefruit and avocado.

- Your next outdoor party will be a hit when you serve Green Chili Steaks. In a medium bowl, thoroughly combine ½ pound lean ground beef, ½ teaspoon Lawry's Seasoned Pepper, ½ teaspoon Lawry's Seasoned salt; a dash

- of Garlic Powder with Parsley, 1 fresh green chili (seeded and minced) and 3 tablespoons chopped green onion. Form into two oval steaks or four hamburger patties. Barbecue until done. If you're rained out, just pop them into a skillet or onto the broiler.

- Grilling in the garage is okay if you follow this advice. Put the grill just inside the big door and leave the garage door open. This will allow adequate ventilation for the burning charcoal.

- This simple Mexican Dressing promises to add real zest to your next salad. Thoroughly blend together ½ cup Lawry's Chunky Taco Sauce and ½ cup mayonnaise. Chill and serve on salad greens or as a relish or dip. Makes about ¾ cup.

- Check the weather if you are thinking about whipping up egg whites for meringue or frosting. High humidity can make the whites "fall," so you may want to select another dish when weather is humid.

- Add Gingered Carrots to your garden of vegetable recipes. Combine 2 cups sliced carrots (about 1 lb.), cooked and drained, 2 tablespoons melted butter, ¼ teaspoon finely chopped ginger and Lawry's Garlic Salt to taste; mix well. Sprinkle 2 to 3 tablespoons shredded, toasted coconut over carrots. Makes 4 servings.

- Heading for Southern California? Be sure to schedule a stop at Lawry's California Center. The food company's 15-acre headquarters offers outdoor dining, gift, wine and garden shops and free plant tours. For information, write Lawry's Public Programs, Department TM, P.O. Box 2983, Los Angeles, California 90051.

our opinions

Tentative teacher pact is good news

After four years of frustrations, negotiations, mediations, fact-finding and contract impasses, the Van Buren Community School District and the Van Buren Education Association have a contract package they believe they can live by.

And that should be good news for everyone, especially the students in this school district.

With a millage vote scheduled for August, everyone will have to work together in order to pass tax increase proposals that will help bring the necessary funds into the district to restore programs and return the school day to six hours.

Van Buren, because of the many cutbacks, has been placed on "probationary status" by the accreditation team from the University of Michigan.

Since 1979, when the old 3-year teacher-board contract expired, there has been a "lot of hard feelings" in the school district. With fiscal disaster lurking at its doors, the school district couldn't equal contract packages signed by the more wealthier school districts in the state.

The impact of declining enrollment and therefore less school aid from the state which translates into financial troubles hit Van Buren hard. Many teachers bolted for "greener" pastures only to discover that almost all other school districts had placed a "hold" on salary increases; many like Livonia were laying off teachers with more than 15 years of service.

It is sad but it is the fact of our times that schools are in trouble. More than ever in this nation's history, schools and unions must find a way to resolve their financial, and basically that's where the problem is — financial — differences. The money is just not there.

The tentative agreement reached in Van Buren hopefully will send a message to neighboring school districts that differences can be ironed out, if all parties are willing.

Although both sides caution that there is a "tentative agreement," we are hopeful that when the teachers' group meets Thursday night they will ratify the pact. We also urge the school board to do likewise.

To do otherwise, would pummel the school district into turmoil during a time when a united front is needed before an electorate that isn't usually eager to pass millage hikes.

Huron invests in the future

Huron Township faces a bright turn of events.

And it's not talk, it is money.

The Federal Government is offering an 80 percent matching grant to the community for local improvements. This is an unusual opportunity because it is money which can be applied in almost any direction to improve the community.

Specifically, it could mean almost $390,000 from the feds. That ain't hay.

Naturally there was some discussion by the Administration and the Board as to how it should be spent should they get the total sum.

It was not an easy decision. But at a special session June 30 they put aside their differences and unanimously decided to fund the 20 percent of the grant should it materialize, and to purchase the Glenn buildings to house a renovated Township Hall, garage, and parking space.

It appears to be a sound decision and maybe it will provide the spark that the community needs to encourage others to invest in the area.

Credit deservedly should be given to Supervisor A.J. Haener for guiding the matter to its intelligent conclusion.

It was not an easy matter to decide on what the money should be spent on. There are so many things that the money could be invested in.

But it appears that the Administration and the Board made an investment in the Township's future.

And that's where it is at. Maybe it will look bright. Money talks.

editorial feedback

When it comes to taxes, 'grass isn't greener' outside Michigan

The recent temporary tax increase has, understandably, created a tremendous controversy in Michigan. This was expected — nobody, especially legislators, likes higher taxes. (People seem to forget that we also pay taxes, just like everyone else.)

However, my mail indicates that there is also a tremendous misunderstanding of how Michigan fits into the national picture on taxes. There is a general perception that Michigan's legislature is acting far differently than legislatures in other states, that "the grass is greener" in other states. Some very significant facts help put Michigan's tax action into perspective.

According to an Associated Press survey, 45 states have increased their taxes effective this year. Many of those tax increases were larger than Michigan's even though Michigan's budget crisis has been the most serious in the nation (due to our high unemployment).

These state tax increases are one of the results of the national recession, and also the Reagan administration's "new federalism" approach which has drastically cut federal support for domestic programs; the administration has flatly stated that states should raise the taxes necessary to continue vital programs.

Michigan passed a TEMPORARY tax increase; most other states passed PERMANENT tax increases. Michigan has not raised taxes for business since well before the Single Business Tax was enacted in 1975; most other states have raised business taxes in the last year.

Some have charged that Michigan has the highest income tax in the nation. This is absolutely not true. While it is true that Michigan has the highest tax of any of the seven states with flat rate income taxes, most states have a graduated income tax, and many have higher income tax rates than Michigan.

In states with graduated taxes, the marginal rates on middle and high incomes are much higher than the Michigan rate. In fact, 24 states have a permanent maximum marginal rate higher than Michigan's temporary 6.35% tax. (The highest is in New York, with a minimum rate of 14% on income exceeding $24,000 a year.)

Some have complained that the temporarily higher tax hurts our job-producing ability because it moves our taxes higher in relation to our neighbors. In fact, every one of our neighboring states has raised taxes substantially in the last few months:

- Ohio raised its income tax 90 percent and increased other taxes for a total of $1 billion.
- Indiana raised its income tax 58 percent, and raised its sales tax 25 percent for a total of $1.8 billion.
- Illinois raised its income tax 20 percent, sales tax 25 percent, and corporate income tax 20 percent, for a total of $1.3 billion.
- Minnesota raised its sales tax 50 percent and imposed a 5 percent surtax on its income tax, for a total increase of $960 million.
- Wisconsin imposed a 20 percent surtax on the personal and corporate income taxes, postponed indexing the personal income tax bracket, ets, raised the sales tax 25 percent, and adjusted other taxes for a total of $375 million.

And this trend hasn't been limited to the industrial belt, hard-hit by the recession, but to all parts of the nation. Consider these tax increases:

- Connecticut increased its sales and use tax on business services from 3.5% to 7.5%, a 115% increase, and also raised corporate and personal income taxes, cigarette and liquor taxes, realty transfer fees and the inheritance tax.
- Washington (state) made permanent a "temporary" 7% business and occupation surtax, and repealed an income tax indexing law.
- Nebraska raised corporate and personal income tax rates, and sales and fuel taxes.
- Nevada made permanent a "temporary" 150% increase in its sales tax.
- Tennessee made permanent a "temporary" 50% sales tax increase.
- Idaho raised its sales tax 50%, increased its corporate income tax and franchise tax approximately 15%, and raised the gas tax by two cents.
- North Dakota temporarily raised its corporate income tax 50%, and increased the sales tax 25%.
- New Mexico raised its income, sales, insurance, liquor and oil and gas taxes. The personal income tax increase was 30%, the corporate income tax increased 20%.
- West Virginia raised its maximum income tax bracket 35% (to 13%), and also imposed a flat 12% income tax surcharge making the total increase 39.2%.
- New York raised the cigarette tax 40%, imposed withholding on interest and dividend payments, added a new 10% gains tax on major real estate transfers, increased the realty transfer tax, and increased liquor taxes.
- Utah increased its corporate income tax 16.25%.

The list goes on and on. The terrible problem the Governor and Legislature have faced here in Michigan is shared by virtually every other state in the nation.

In 1981 — the last year for which official statistics are available — Michigan ranked 32nd in state taxes as a percentage of personal income. Most observers expect that the statistics for 1983 will show that we will hold that low position, and perhaps drop even lower, because of other states enacting tax increases larger than that enacted in Michigan.

No elected official likes to increase taxes, and everybody loves to lower taxes. But we have a responsibility to vote to pay for basic government services; public safety, education, and human services.

Unlike the federal government, Michigan must balance its budget; as 44 other states have discovered, a combination of drastically reduced federal support and a national recession forces state tax increases to achieve a balanced budget while maintaining vital services.

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

The adage goes something like, and we've all heard it, that there is no such thing as an irreplaceable person.

The ignorant hack who coined that phrase obviously never met Sue McDonald, the Associated Newspapers' news editor, The Westland Eagle's editor, the reporter for the Westland City Council and the Wayne-Westland Community School District, the police editor and writer.

Are you getting the thrust of things? Should I go on? And those of you who have those "soft jobs" on the metropolitan newspapers better stop here because most of you would collapse at the pace 'Mac' — obviously short for McDonald — sets.

Name the job on a newspaper — writing heads, "dumming in", taking photos, public relations, writing, editing and trying to satisfy the hundreds — thousands — of callers — is it no wonder she's decided to take a "sabbatical"?

That's right. After more than nine years here in the newsroom, McDonald has decided to take a vacation from her typewriter. Sue and her husband have decided to head south, to Florida, and take up residency in Fort Meyers.

Oh, no, she's not a senior citizen. Sue's not even 30 (are you?), but she has more mileage on her in this profession than some of those grey-haired people who think working for the dailies is work.

Anyone who has put in her or his time on a weekly newspaper for any length of time knows that the weeklies are a rough beat. Prove it, you say. That's easy.

If you're on a daily and the news is slow, what do you do? Clip stories from the wire services — The Associated Press, the United Press International, and fill in the columns with all of that canned, computerized copy. Try to use AP or UPI wire stories on a weekly, and that spells trouble with a capital "T".

And the guys downtown can sit on their seats in front of the VDT's (Video Display Terminals) and knock out stories and criticize their subjects without that face-to-face confrontation of the front line.

If you work for a weekly and take a crack at a Mayor Oakley or a Beverly McAnally or a Jim Poole or a Maria Sterlini or a Mayor Pickering, the next moment you'll find them in your office. You face your news sources every week at council meetings, at school board meetings.

You think it's easy. Believe me, it ain't.

And Sue McDonald has matched her wits with the best politicians (and the worst), including Presidents of these United States.

There has always been a reoccurring nightmare in these parts of what we'd do if she decided to leave. Now that decision is at hand.

And, as Scarlett O'Hara put it: "I'll think about it tomorrow."

That "tomorrow" is Friday, Sue's last day on the job.

And, I know I say it for all of us here at the Associated Newspapers and for all of her faithful readers:

"Thanks, Sue, for sharing these precious nine years with us. We wish you all the success in the world in Florida."

And if you should ever get sick of the damned heat, those mosquitoes, those sharks in the ocean, those hijackings to Cuba, high taxes, being away from all of your friends and those tropical creatures — two and four legged ones — and the sterile skies with that huge sun torching your skin in Florida, please come back to us.

He is 75, wished
he was 45; he is 45 wished he was 35.
Don't wish. Do.

V-B family day
founder answers
criticism

EDITOR — As founder and chairman of the Van Buren Township Family Day for four years (1979, 1980, 1981 and 1982), I would like to respond to the letter signed by trustee Marilyn Montgomery and published in the June 29, 1983 issue of the Associated Newspapers' Belleville Enterprise edition.

Ms. Montgomery stated that the 1983 Family Day Committee held four publicized meetings calling for volunteers and their wasn't any interest — in other words "no one came." (Ms. Montgomery's quote). This should not come as a surprise to Ms. Montgomery as she never volunteered to assist in preparations for any Family Day programs.

Local merchants, organizations, area citizens and some township employees joined in the preparations with vigor for the four yearly Family Days. I emphasize that township employees were not "required" to donate time during these four years.

I would like Ms. Montgomery to inform me and the public "who" made "whom" aware of a $3,000 loss on the activities of Family Day 1982.

Yes, Ms. Montgomery, Family Day was a "fun day" for all area residents, but the net proceeds were more than "minimal." Net proceeds of the Family Day activities were used to improve facilities at the Van Buren Township Park such as repair of old pavilions, erection of new pavilions, new barbecue grills, picnic tables, etc.

The $3500 cost of the fireworks display at the conclusion of the 1982 Family Day was expended from the balance in the Family Day account accrued from the three previous Family Day activities.

Presently there is no activity planned to raise revenues for necessary improvements of the park facilities in Van Buren Township. Taxpayers must bear the costs of park maintenance, repairs, police protection, etc.

through taxes and revenue raised by the sale of park passes.

With respect to the roads, I am sure that Van Buren Township taxpayers are aware that a large percentage of their taxes are forwarded to the coffers of Wayne County. Some of these taxes should be allocated for the maintenance of the county roads. Michigan State gasoline and road taxes are allocated to the Wayne County Road Commission for the aforementioned maintenance.

Ms. Montgomery welcomes comments at the audience participation portion of the Van Buren Township Board Meetings. I served as a member of the Van Buren Township Board from April 1978 to August 10, 1982 and Ms. Montgomery was conspicuous in her absence both in appearances and questions during Van Buren Township meetings.

Why did council conduct survey?

EDITOR — Recently the Westland City Council conducted a survey asking the people of Westland what areas of the city budget they would like to see maintained, increased or reduced.

The results as stated by Councilman Ken Mehl indicated the people made a strong vote to maintain the police and fire services at their current levels.

Why then did the City Council turn around and cut manpower and positions from the Fire Department?

These cuts will ultimately seriously affect the services every citizen in this city is entitled to.

If the council had no intention of considering the priorities of the people of Westland, then why was the survey even presented to us?

The Fire Department responds to all reported fires and medical emergencies within minutes. Can the citizens of Westland afford cuts to this department at the risk of increased response time to emergencies, especially if this budget slashing action by the council results in fire stations closing.

I am writing this letter because I sincerely believe that the Westland City Council is acting irresponsibly by totally ignoring the concerns and priorities of the citizens of this city.

It is time the council realizes that the Fire Department responds to real life-threatening situations twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year. Cost savings should not be the only criteria used when determining the Fire Department budget and manpower.

A Strawberry
festival tribute

EDITOR — May I take this opportunity to thank all of those who made the 1983 Belleville Strawberry Festival one of the greatest events of its kind in the state.

After seven years, the annual Strawberry Festival has truly become a highlight of the summer season...not only for the 30,000 plus visitors who come to see it each year, but especially for us at the Chamber of Commerce.

Being part of one of the most popular festivals in this area has been a hectic but an enjoyable part of serving the entire community.

Hundreds watched as the new Strawberry Festival Queen was presented the 1983 crown and from that point on, dozens of events for children of all ages and strawberry treats were consumed for two and a half days. And again hundreds looked on as our celebrities and participants passed by in the festival parade.

Reflecting on the success of this year's festival, a sincere thanks to the growers and the dedicated group of individuals that make up the festival committee, the clubs, churches, organizations, merchants in sponsoring the events and those who participated in the activities.

Thanks also to the local police units and public officials for their cooperation and the news media for their outstanding coverage.

All made this Strawberry Festival a memorable one.

Story helped MD benefit

EDITOR — Just a short note of thanks to the Associated Newspapers for the article about Tom's Tavern Muscular Dystrophy benefit fundraiser.

Tom's Tavern raised over $1,300 for Muscular Dystrophy. You can be proud to know that the funds raised shall go towards research, as well as to provide wheelchairs, braces, clinic services, therapy sessions, summer camps, and more to anyone suffering from neuromuscular disease.

On behalf of our local Muscular Dystrophy patients, their families, the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Tom Christopoulos of Tom's Tavern, and everyone involved with the fight against Muscular Dystrophy — please accept our deepest thanks!

Artrain visit
coverage helpful

EDITOR — Although this note is extremely tardy, it is nonetheless sincere.

We truly appreciated your assistance in publicizing Artrain's visit to the Detroit waterfront in late March. Attendance during this year's exhibition was the best in recent memory and was due, in no small way, to the excellent coverage we received in metro-area media.

Again, thank you. We look forward to working with The Associated Newspapers in the future.

Festival news coverage great

EDITOR — The Canton Country Festival Board and I would like to personally thank you and your staff for the very fine coverage you provided the Festival this year.

As I am sure you are aware, publicity prior to the event is crucial to our success and your coverage of our Festival was most important. In succeeding years, as we continue to grow and refine, I hope we can look forward to a continuation of a mutually beneficial relationship.

JAMES GILLIG

Festival judge
has comments

EDITOR — I would like to express my appreciation for being allowed to be part of the Belleville Strawberry Festival.

Being one of the judges for the Strawberry Queen selection was a very memorable experience and one I will remember for some time to come.

I had heard about the Strawberry Festival in past years, but never attended. This year, by being involved, we spent the entire day, Saturday, June 18, visiting the Arts and Crafts booths, the various church activities and even picked strawberries. We had an excellent time and will plan again next year to attend.

Again, I thank you for the opportunity to participate as a judge in the selection of the Strawberry Queen.

reflections

Those appliances and I

Each machine that is brought into my home develops a strange antipathy towards me. Actually, what it seems to develop is a strong hatred. I have sitting in my kitchen a portable dishwasher that has stood in its corner for almost three years, leering. Repairmen have come, and repairmen have gone, and while those repairmen are tinkering with its innards it performs beautifully.

One can almost see its beatific smile. The minute it sees me cross their palms with silver and close the door on them it starts leering. Sometimes I think this might be my imagination, so I take its little hose in my hand and I connect it with the faucet. But all of that soapy water being belched out over my floor is definitely not my imagination. Those are the times when I would like to pull its hose right out of its body and just let it suffer.

I am also the possessor of a stove that has a front panel with enough buttons to jet propel one almost anywhere he would like to go...and would you believe that I have never used any of those buttons, except the off and on ones?

The main reason I haven't experimented with those buttons is because it has been my experience that strange things can happen to one when experimenting with strange buttons.

I'm positive that since the stove feels it is not performing all the functions for which it has potential, it has become frustrated. How else can one explain burned biscuit bottoms, flopped cakes, and pies that are partially burned and partially undone?

Down in my basement is a washing machine that doesn't do anything except turn out tattle-tale grey clothes. But I think the worst thing about that washing machine is that it doesn't even have a giant in it.

(I ran into a giant one day while walking in the woods, and I pleaded with him to come and make his home in my washing machine. But he was on strike for better living conditions and couldn't.)

Probably the most loyal and longest lived machine in our house is a boxy-looking old dryer that makes its home in one corner of the basement. On several occasions it has clunked out but a well aimed kick at its solar-plexus got it going again.

I have often wondered why this old dryer continues drying tattle-tale grey clothes with no complaint, and have decided that somehow its psyche understands that it was purchased as a protective measure by my husband. It was a long time ago, about the first kid I think, when the diaper man interpreted the nervous twitch in my right eye and reacted spontaneously to what he must have thought was a down right out and out invitation.

That's been a long time ago and sometimes I find myself kind of half wishing that that old dryer would make its transition so that I could see if anything like that could happen again. It was annoying twenty years ago, but I have a feeling it would be down right uplifting at this stage of my development.

Not too long ago my ever-loving came totin' home one of those floor washers and waxers.

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

He felt awfully good about getting it for me because it was really getting to him everytime he saw me on my hands and knees working. Besides, he knew if he didn't do something about it right away I would never be able to win one of those ads where my housewife hands would be compared to a model's.

At least this is what he told me. Actually my husband is a lover of gadgets. Sometimes I feel almost wistful over the way he tinkers away with gadgets with tender, loving care. He filled that washer-waxer and played away happily on my kitchen floor all of that Saturday afternoon. Even the football game didn't intrude.

And that appliance performed flawlessly. And, honestly, I watched everything he did.

Therefore, do you think there is anyone who could explain to me how come the floor got waxed before it got washed?

MONA GRIGG

mona grigg

Come with me to the Casbah

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Mona Grigg is on vacation. This is one of her columns published earlier this year. Mrs. Grigg will return to these pages next week.)

A few weeks ago, at a certain flea market just west of here, I picked up four kitchen chairs for $20. (Garage sales and flea marketeers always say "picked up" instead of "bought" when they think they got a real bargain.

The chairs are real wood and just the right size and freshly painted in a color that blends nicely with our kitchen. They are just what I was looking for, and I would have gladly paid twice the price or more if that was what the dealer had been asking.

But the real selling point was that they were almost exactly like the chairs in the kitchen of the house my family lived in when I started kindergarten. There were instant happy memories associated with those chairs.

Nostalgia, if you will. (Dictionary definition of "nostalgia": a longing for things, persons, or situations that are not present.)

Too bad the dealer in question didn't know about the kitchen in the house I lived in when I started kindergarten. Flea market dealers are big on nostalgia. Nostalgia pays. They know that half the people who frequent flea markets come there because they want to be around the things their grandmothers used to have.

"My grandmother used to have one of those" is a phrase heard over and over again in flea markets. It can be taken two ways: If it is said with a sneer, the dealer turns to other customers, knowing that the speaker never thought it was worth much, even in grandmother's possession.

If, however, that same statement is uttered in tones reverential, the dealer suspects he may have something here. He immediately reminds the buyer (she is a potential buyer now) of the past tense, "used to have."

He also reminds the buyer that these particular widgets are becoming increasingly scarce. He (the dealer) had a devil of a time finding even this one. He may never find one again.

"This would cost you a fortune any place else," and "I thought about keeping it myself" are two phrases heard most often from the dealer's side of the table. If you are new at this, you are apt to carry around — along with your packages — a lot of guilt, until you realize that it's all part of the game.

There's a lot of rascality in flea market dealers. They are not necessarily con men, although I suppose you could find them here as well as anywhere. I think it's more that they tend to get a little bored just standing around watching people pick up things and put them down again. They find their fun in becoming carnival barkers and medicine show performers.

They can spot a new customer a mile away. First-time flea marketeers are usually the ones who listen with rapt attention as the dealer performs. They almost never walk away. Then, at the end of the spiel, they feel so guilty for having taken so much of the dealer's time, they can't help but buy whatever it was he was speling about.

Now, mind you, these first-timers haven't been conned...nor have they been fleeced. They have simply been...persuaded.

To the latent adventurer, the local flea markets are the bazaars of Baghdad, of Mar-rakesh — the Casbahs of the suburbs. There is an irresistible element of danger here (as in "A fool and his money are soon parted") and the thrill comes in escaping relatively unscathed with a veritable treasure secreted away in a sack.

One can hardly wait to get to his means of conveyance (In lieu of a donkey cart, mine happens to be a car. They seem to frown on donkey carts in this part of the country), for fear someone will come running, shouting, "Stop, thief!" or "Wait! There's been a terrible mistake!"

And, as it happens, there are times when they are right on both counts. Sometimes what you've bought has been a steal...and other times it's been a terrible mistake.

Sometimes you find you've paid big bucks for a reproduction passed off as an antique. Now that's cheating — unless the dealer really didn't know — in which case he should be willing to give you your money back. Or you might find a crack or a break you hadn't noticed before (and most things bought at flea markets are bought "as is") some how you missed the little "Made in Taiwan" stencil.

When that happens, there is some consolation in reminding yourself of the Antiquer's Slogan: "If you liked it enough to buy it, and you enjoy it...it was worth it."

If, however, you find no consolation in that slogan, and you are ending up with more trash than treasures, there is one other thing you can do.

You can always rent a space at the flea market...

Life Still Goes On

*Hard Times were heavy upon us
We shed our feathers of inhibition like young birds of spring
We gathered together in wordly rituals
Likened to prayers we chanted our hopes and sorrows nationwide
Sat and chatted with Ted Koppel who asked, "And how has the economy affected your lifestyle/are you angry?"
We need jobs, we need help and where is security?
What do we do now? Where do we go from here?
Governments and men of great authority listened
The President passed the buck and his words weren't worth repeating
Many of our prayers went unanswered
Some of us didn't sleep, the country held its breath
As we lost jobs, homes our lives became tangled in the red tape of the system
We stood in long lines weary, filling out forms
Here is the cheese, here is the butter.
One gentleman directing his question to President Reagan asked,
"Where do we go for the meat and potatoes?"
We all lost, all of us became classless, all empty and poor at heart
While Sally Ride is cruising into space in her airborne hot rod
...more in the world, not worried about the price of gas or inflation
I can't even get my old junker started. I realize Life still goes on, Whether we like it or not.*

1,000 paraders march

Waltz puts on a big, little parade under beautiful blue skies

By JERRY DesHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

It was blue skies all day long, nothin' but blue skies and a few white clouds above little Waltz which put on a big parade Sunday. Police sirens signaled the three-quarter-mile-long entourage of 1000 paraders, passing by Waltz Feed Store and crossing the tracks into the heart of Waltz, about a square block.

A few hundred spectators lined that part of the route, kids reaching for candy tossed from the parade.

The parade hooked a left on Mineral Springs and went down a block to Bismark, a shady street, which led into an amusement park area under a hot sun.

A chicken dinner was held on the grounds before, during, and after the parade. The Rustic Village, featuring log-constructed homes more than a century old, was open to the public.

About a dozen amusement rides spun, touched and dipped in the sun, and off to the side a few local notables were cooled inconspicuously whenever a young arm found its target with a baseball.

The square dance hall at the Rustic Village, with its inviting floors, stood deserted in the afternoon. Next door a little stand offered sno cones and lemonade, nothing over 25 cents.

"It was short, but sweet, a real nice little parade," summed up Don Sinclair, 34-year-old president of the Waltz Improvement Association.

He reeled off names of the organizations which participated, and the winners.

Today was the grand finale... it was beautiful, just beautiful.

First place in the float category went to the Rustic Village Squares with the Huron Apple Fest runner up. Best Marching winner was the Carleton VFW and second place was won by the Huron High School band. The Motorized category was won by the Wheelman, old fashioned cyclists from Huron Township.

Co-chairmen of the event this year were Bob and Dixie Ziegler, along with Bud Lyons.

Sinclair estimated that about 3000 to 5000 people attended Sunday's events. It was a four-day affair, starting Thursday night.

"Today was the grand finale," he said. "It was beautiful out, it was beautiful."

Everyday was blue skies.

And how were the crowds compared to years past, Sinclair was asked.

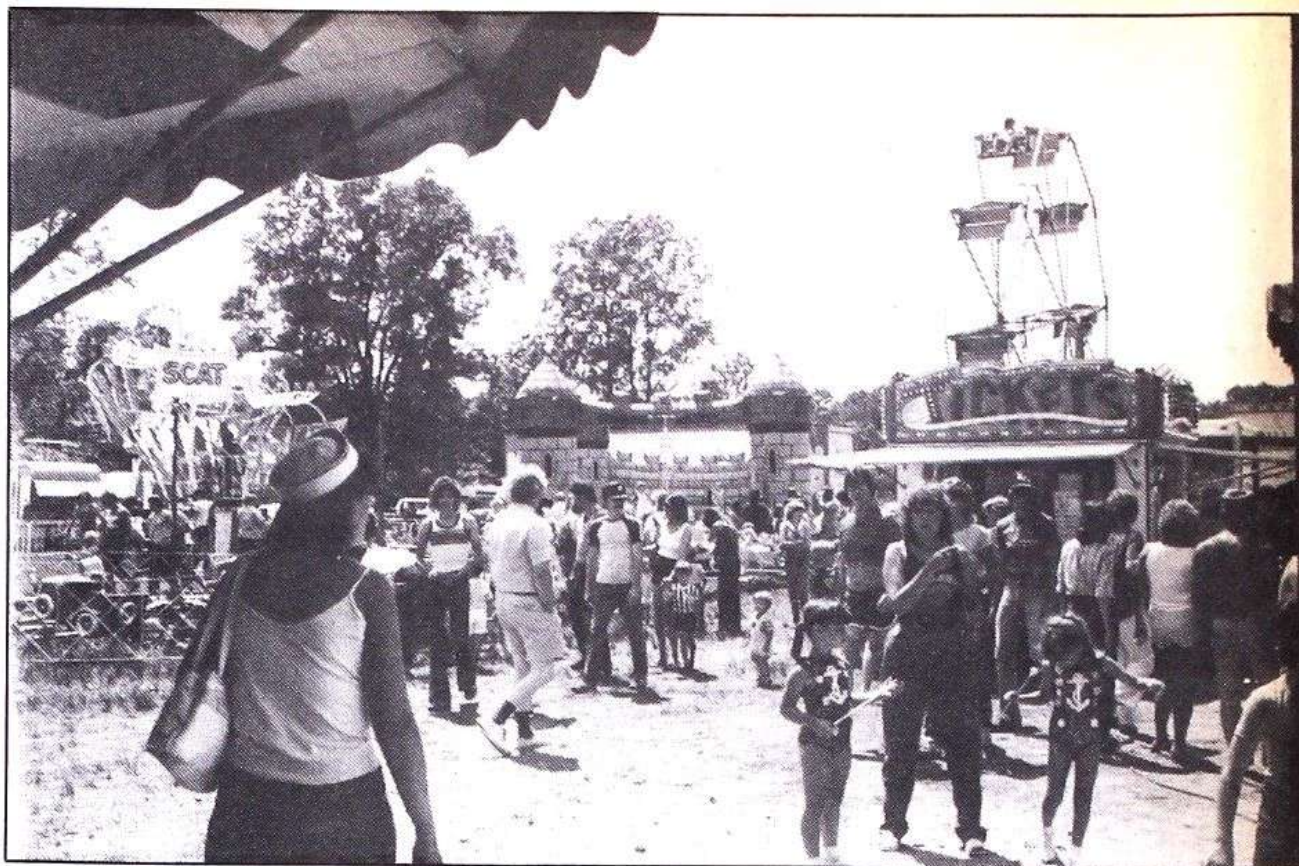

"Well, I would say that the crowds were basically down," he said. Why?

"I don't know. Probably the economy. We've got a lot of people laid off. I guess they just don't have the money to do it."

"Even with a little poorer weather the crowd was a little bit better last year. But over all, I think today will be a great day," he said confidently.

Sunday night was to feature Country Feeling of Ypsilanti for musical entertainment at the event. Friday night the Phoenix Four entertained, and Saturday night Joe Prater and the Huron Valley Boys performed, a popular favorite.

Sinclair has been a member of the Waltz Improvement Association for 12 years. There are about 30 active members this year. The group has been in existence for 50 years and has produced the "Waltz Homecoming" annually.

Everything went right at the annual Waltz festival

He says every year they are trying to get the crowd that seems to be disappearing.

"Every year, we try," he said.

As if the coastline is receding and they are fighting. And how did the Waltz Improvement Association do this year in the fight?

"Well, I think we at least stayed even, or gained on it a little bit," he said.

The amusement rides and the chicken dinners are done by private groups, he said, the association makes its money on beer and the Las Vegas tent.

"This year is the first year we actually had gambling here," Sinclair said. "That's basically what we're shooting for."

Black Jack, the big attraction with a $2 limit is what the association is banking on.

"We hope we make some dough," he said. But the gambling crowds have been slow, he admitted. "They seem to come out after 9 o'clock. The good crowds...seems to be a late crowd, every night."

Under the gambling tent, Pete was ready at the Black Jack table at mid-afternoon waiting along with three other volunteer dealers for 3:30 p.m. when the public would be allowed in to try their luck.

Outside the people ate chicken and drank beer and the kids breezed under the hot sun through a fantasy that would grow with their age.

And the sky was deep with the same blue that white clouds streaked when Waltz was a child.

the town of New Boston with a sign as people entered these communities.

The sign material was donated by the Boston Lumber Company of New Boston and the Kryzski Bros. of Waltz.

The kids at school constructed the signs in a woodcraft project. Gary Jackson, the School Superintendent who is also a member of the Chamber, was instrumental in getting the school to work on it. Ray Koski, woodshop instructor, supervised the work.

We had several get-togethers, informal-type parties, I guess you'd say, putting the signs together and we installed them one

Saturday morning. They read: "Welcome to New Boston, Huron Township Chamber of Commerce" and "Welcome to Waltz..."

We got a lot of positive comments about the signs, particularly from Waltz. I don't know why, I think people want community identification, they really do.

You know, I think everybody takes a certain amount of pride in their community and just the fact that we put up signs that say, as visitors come into the community, "Welcome to..." I think it's a nice addition that people have felt.

We are also organizing "Chamber Touch" which my wife Rose is co-chairperson of along with Sandy Johnson, and that particular group is going to represent the businesses in the community to the new people who move into the area with coupons, a gift box. Each business contributes something to the gift box as a way of introduction.

We do have a lot of nice businesses and products in this Township, and people should be introduced to them first rather than running off to shop elsewhere.

Of course, we want to center on the agricultural endeavors in the Township and this is not the first time it's been tried. The Apple Festival is an instance of promotion of their interests which was started four years ago.

Of course, the farmers are a tough one to crack because they are an independent lot. But three members of our board are farmers and we want to encourage more to join.

Anyway, we have also come up with a Theme Committee which will meet with the Township Planning Commission and talk about possible redevelopment in the downtown area of Waltz and New Boston.

But this group will more-or-less walk hand-in-hand with government. It is not an antagonist role. It's a "we" approach.

We've got a real good Board of Directors, we're up to 46 members right now and it's just a question of time.

Our anticipation was to break 100 within a year... and we're only a little less than six months old and we're approaching half of our goal.

I would like to see more businesses, farmers, and non-profit organizations to come out and get involved.

As a matter of fact, at the next meeting we are discussing a Theme Committee idea on a proposed European Farmers Market at some centralized location in the Township.

This would be an opportunity for people to come to a Chamber meeting and get acquainted.

The meeting is July 20 at the Waltz Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Sumpter C.P.R. class tonight

Sumpter Township residents are invited to take part in C.P.R. classes that will be conducted at the Township Hall.

The classes are scheduled to be held Wed. July 13 and the two subsequent Wednesdays between the hours of 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The minimum age to register for the classes is 13.

Officials urge those who wish to enroll early to telephone 587-

IAN HUNTER
"All of The Good Ones Are Taken"
(Columbia)

The file report on Ian Hunter reads thusly: Fronted Mott the Hoople, one of the greatest rock bands of the early 70's, before venturing out as a solo artist. First album, "Ian Hunter" a classic. Actually a collaborative effort with guitarist Mick Ronson, ex of Bowie's Ziggy Stardust era, but the two were unable to officially form a group, because both were contracted to different labels as well as having managers who hated each other.

The tour lasted for six shows, happily, two of them were in Michigan. Broke up. Second solo effort "All American Alien Boy" flops faster than James Watt souvenir T-shirts. After some production work, Hunter hooks up with Ronson again and the result is "Never Alone With a Schizophrenic," a fine LP yielding two or three hit singles, including "Just Another Night," "When The Daylight Comes," and "Ships," which was later mangled by Barry Manilow.

Enter Mick Jones of the Clash. He hypnotizes Hunter into doing everything his way, Ronson is put in the backseat on both the guitar and producer levels, and the result is, as they say down south, cow chips.

Only a double LP, "Welcome To The Club," recorded before Hunter's Jones, so to speak, redeems him at all over the past few years. Naturally, Mick Ronson was omni-present there, too.

Hunter's last U.S. tour, which brought him to a half-full Cobo Hall (and saw many unawares chanting for the absent guitarist), had him doing a parody of himself. It was sad, considering he had once been one of the best.

So, imagine my surprise at putting on "All of The Good Ones Are Taken" and finding out that not only is it listenable, but it's damn good! The songs, which had been less than good of late are right back up there with Hunter's best, and his best is good indeed.

The title cut is a sure-fire hit single (with a top-notch video on MTV to help it along) taken at mid-tempo with Hunter crooning to his lost woman:

"Girl - I'm livin' in the middle of your memory
Girl - You're still the figure in my favorite fantasy"

Other highlights include "Every Step Of The Way," a rollicking number that's a proverbial footstomper if ever there was one: "Death 'N' Glory Boys."

City golf championship deadline set

Tourney is scheduled for July 23-24 at Fellows Creek

In less than a week more than 50 golfers have signed up for the City Championship Golf Tournament.

The quick response by the area golfers brought a prompt warning from Bill Whitworth, one of the co-chairmen of the annual tournament.

"We're urging everyone to sign up as soon as possible so that we can make tee times and foursomes available for publication," Whitworth said. "People like to wait until the last minute to sign up and we understand their reasoning because they do not know if they will be in town."

"However, we can't accommodate late-comers as we have in the past because there is a limit to what the golf course can allow us. They also have obligations to their members."

Whitworth said the deadline to register for the 1983 City Championships is 5 p.m., Monday, July 18. All entries must be received at the Associated Newspapers' Sports Desk on or before that time and date.

The tournament, opened to all male amateur golfers in the Township of Canton and the cities of Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Romulus and Garden City, will be held the weekend of July 23-24 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township.

Golfers will play an 18-hole qualifying round on Saturday, then return on Sunday for the championship round. Separate city championships are staged simultaneously for the participating communities. The tournament is sponsored by The Associated Newspapers and the Recreation Departments of each of the communities.

Additional flight competitions will be organized for each city only if total entry is sufficient.

Recreation Departments will award trophies to the first, second and third place finishers of each flight and a "sudden death" playoff will determine the winner if a tie occurs in any of the first three places.

An additional trophy will be awarded to the individual low scorer of the entire field (medalist) and a trophy — the Lenny Anderson

Memorial Trophy — will be awarded to the winner of the Wayne championship flight. Patrolman Anderson was the first police officer in Wayne's history to die in the line of duty.

There is a $25 entry fee which covers greens and trophy fees. Please make checks payable to Bill Hawley, tournament manager. For further information, contact the ANP sports desk during regular business hours at 729-4000.

Also complete the entry blank accompanying this story and mail it or drop it off at the Associated Newspapers' offices, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, or at the local Recreation Department offices.

Softballers continue Romulus title chase

Jumping on losing pitcher Kathy Genaw for three runs in the first inning, league-leading Progressive Club chalked up its 10th victory against three losses at the expense of fifth-place Bailey's 7-2 in the Romulus Class A Women's Softball League.

Progressive now has a two-game cushion over runner-up D.S.I. which survived a 3-2 scare at the hands of Total Petroleum.

Mary Brewis and Lori Grayzack each had three singles off of Genaw who also served up a double and single to Pam Yount and Sue Roger, while Tracey Barnett also checked in with a pair of hits.

Winning pitcher Sharon Howil gave up a total of 11 hits, three of those coming off the bat of Carol Casmer. Robin Johnson sliced two singles and Joyce Hathorne had a two-run single.

Total grabbed a 2-0 bottom of the third lead before D.S.I. tied the score in its fourth and won it with a run in the sixth. Each team collected seven hits. Winner Sandy Holliday was tagged for a single and a double by Karen Weber while Cathy Bartz had a couple of singles.

Loser Janis Coleman gave up two hits apiece to Maria Franklin and Rhonda Harris.

In other Class A action, Angies' struck for five runs in the first inning en route to a 7-2 victory over Huron as Lisa Bratcher blasted three hits and Sharon McBride helped the winners with two runs batted in. Dana Lindon had a double and single and Denise Quiring ripped off a run-scoring double.

Dawn Swierczski was the only batter with two hits for the losers.

F.X. Coughlin didn't need to sweat in their encounter with Bilmars who was a "no show" for their Class B confrontation last week. The victory boosted the league-leader's record to 11-2 on the year.

In a well-played defensive game, Hilton Airport hung on to edge Middlebelt 3-1 for its fourth win in 11 starts. Karon Burton and Dorothy Ryznar each had two hits off of winning hurler Diane Summerfield who gave up a total of seven safeties.

Ryznar, charged with the loss, was tagged for 11 hits, including three by Debbie Rockoz and Laura Miller. Donna McNally hammered a double and single.

Suburban Oil rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to catch and nip Blazing Saddles, 8-7. Joyce Fuens and Cathy Pohoczek led the assault on losing pitcher Bev Carney who gave up two hits each to the Suburban sluggers. Lisa Russo chipped in with a run-scoring double.

Winning pitcher served up three hits, including a triple to Chris King and a pair of hits to Nancy Maitland. Carney, charged with the loss, collected a single and double.

The Shell Hustlers outlasted L & W Girls 11-10 thanks to the hitting of Tracey Barnett, Vicki Hall and Doreen Iasocco who each had two hits. Winner Carol Minda was tagged for three singles by Marie Parent, while Terri Lyman latched on to a double and two singles and Debbie Bruce had a single and double.

In the meantime, Romulus City Drugs continued to set the pace in the Men's Class A League as it battered Mag Media 10-2 for its 10th victory in 11 starts.

Larry Cehesno homered and drove in three runs for the winners and teammates Mark Bratcher and Jay Barton accounted for two and three hits respectively. Barton, the winning pitcher, gave up two hits to Kelly Summerfield and Paul De-Buysscher. Rick Britz had a pair of hits for the losers.

Tom's Lawn Service struck for five runs in the fifth inning and a total of 18 hits off of Ginar Kvaran to win a 9-3 decision over the Landing Strip. Kurt Johnston, Jeff Stoker and Rick Hoover each had three hits for the winners while pitcher Scotty Knight delivered two hits to Gary Griffith and a double to Kvaran.

F.X. Coughlin scored three times in the first inning then picked up single runs in the third and seventh to put down Demyan Antiques 7-3. Joe Rice homered and Wally Wilds chalked up three hits including a pair of two-baggers while Ray Schmucker laced a triple and a pair of singles off of loser Jerry Pichan. Pichan also gave up a pair of hits to Jerry Ruhlrig.

Pichan countered with a couple of singles off of winner Joe Rice who was tagged for a triple by Dave Sarnick and a double by Tom Maveal.

Romulus City Drugs suffered its first setback of the campaign at the hands of F.X. Coughlin 7-5 as the two rivals exchanged three runs in the first inning, however, the league leader couldn't match Coughlin's two runs for the fifth and sixth frames.

All-Star game

Romulus, Wayne stars split

What the Wayne 11-13 year-old all-stars "giveth" away to Romulus, the 13-18 age group "taketh" back.

In their annual All-Star softball games, Wayne dropped a 16-11 decision as Romulus scored five times in the second inning and built up a 10-0 lead before the Wayne batters battled back to make a game of it in the 11-12 age group.

Romulus' Jody Olshewski had a pair of singles and a double while Cindy Silvey slammed a triple and single and accounted for four runs batted in and Miriam Berlin picked up a pair of hits for the winners.

Wayne received an exceptional effort from Rhonda Farmer who laced three singles and Kristin Beeny had a pair of singles while Nanette Williams had a double and a RBI for the losers.

Wayne broke open a 2-all tie with a six-run top of the fourth rally to turn back Romulus 14-3 in the 13-18 confrontation. Cindi Carrel, Tammy Piscopink, Melissa Prevo, Mary Podgorny and Julie Mabelitni each had run-scoring singles for the winners.

Kim Doss led the hitting assault for the losers as she drilled a pair of singles that paved the way for two RBIs. Dee Pochmara, Kim Lyles, Debbie Barr and Jackie Pochmara each had hits for Romulus.

Revenge is sweet

Plymouth edges Wayne in Pee Wee rematch

Plymouth Quality Construction who was upset a week ago by Wayne Ford in the Pee Wee Reese League got even last Sunday with a 4 to 2 win.

Wayne Ford opened the scoring with Mike Heard's double and Craig Lescoe's single in the first inning. The score stayed 1 to 0 through 3 innings, but Plymouth scored in each of the last 4 innings. Leading the Plymouth 10 hit attack was Bob Files, Ken Plonka, Peter Bidolli and winning pitcher Chris Johnston with 2 hits apiece. Johnston and Plonka scored 2 runs each. Mike Sulak was the losing pitcher.

Wayne Ford defeated Northville Blue on Saturday 7 to 1. The team banged out 13 hits with Mike Heard and Craig Lescoe getting three hits, Kevin Bates and Roger Ayers getting 2 hits each. Gary Zerna had 4 RBIs.

Jamie Timmer was the winning pitcher. He scattered 5 hits and struck out 8.

Wayne Ford will host Waterford next Saturday and Garden City on Sunday. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Hockey clinic for bantams

The Westland Hockey Association will hold a one-night-a-week hockey clinic for Bantam-age group skaters at the Inkster Ice Arena, Michigan Ave., and Inkster Rd. The instructors for the clinic are Barry Wallave and Ernie Kelm.

Rice and Wilds split four hits for the winners, while Dave Schmucker belted a double and single off of loser Mike McKloskey. All three batters had two RBI's.

Jay Barton connected for a pair of singles and Kevin Christensen had a single and double for the losers.

In the Open Class A circuit, undefeated Taylor A.C. Lounge hammered 25 hits to turn back Radiology Associated 18-11 as winning pitcher Dan Amamm drilled two homers and drove in five runs to help his cause. Steve Berky checked in with three hits and Tom Wright had two off of loser Greg Nowicki.

Nowicki helped himself to two RBI's and a pair of singles while Bob Brumeisler had a single and double and Woody Woodhuff picked up three hits, including a double.

J.T. Auto chalked up its fourth victory at the expense of Bartell Chiropractic 12-7 as Marty Lozano led the assault on losing hurler Ernie Thornsberry with a homer and single. Bob Coffee and Mike Britz contributed two hits each.

DeBuysscher, the winner, gave up four RBI's and a single and triple to Bruce Rooks. Rod Miester and Thornsberry each had two hits.

Romulus Recreation won a forfeit over the Lockerroom.

Walter's Bar broke a two-inning scoreless deadlock with a 6-run burst in the third and went on to defeat Home Showtime 11-3 in another Class A Game. Keith Blanchard and Gary Helton split four of the nine hits offered by winner Robert Tolliver.

Loser Jim Seymour delivered a double and two singles which helped Mike Pas to a four RBI evening. Scotty Knight checked in with three hits, including a pair of doubles. Earl Champaine had a two run single.

In other Class A action, Evron defeated Govan Building 12-9 as Rick Searcy, Greg Sauve and Dave Wilkowitz each had two hits for the winners. Jerome Drydale, the winning pitcher, gave up three hits, including a double to Earl Nordhagen. Mike Nutter and Moe Fitzgerald each had two hits.

Pitcher Ron Farquharson posted a rare shutout as Ed's Hangar trimmed Elkins Machine 5-0. Farquharson was tagged for six hits including a double by Don Marken and Dan Wood.

Rog Cribbs, Jay Terranella and

Bill Bettinger also had two hits for the winners.

Johnston/Smith overpowered Federal Mogul 17-3 to remain undefeated in the Friday Open League B as Dennis Henley blasted two homers off of loser Dave Cooper who also yielded a roundtripper to Ron Collins. Kevin Johnson checked in with a pair of singles and a triple for the winners.

Henly, the winner, had his problems in the form of Kyle Baker who accounted for three of the loser's five hits.

Bilmar's scored six runs in the first inning and went on to bury Distron 15-8 as Ron Dick hammered a pair of doubles and a triple and Mike Shingler missed hitting for the "cycle" when he failed to homer off of Distron's pitchers. George Mitchell and Denise Felice split six hits.

ENERGY PLUS⁺

Plant modernization.

A key ingredient of Michigan's revitalization.

For the past 20 years, Detroit Edison has been involved in a massive program of modernization. Replacing old power plants dependent on diminishing gas and oil with new plants fueled by abundant, cost-efficient American-produced coal and uranium.

Today, this program is near completion. And that's good news. Good for businesses contemplating expansion. Good for attracting new businesses. Good for our state economy. Good for you.

Here's why.

☐ Abundant energy is a prime consideration for businesses interested in expanding or relocating to Southeastern Michigan. That means more jobs. More utilization of an already skilled and proven labor force.

☐ As more new businesses discover Michigan's plentiful advantages, such as our vast waterways, ideally located industrial parks, state-funded economic incentive programs, and, of course, lots of electricity, they will make our area's economy more vibrant. More stable. Plant modernization has helped to set the stage for economic recovery. And, even now, promising results are beginning to show.

☐ Naturally, the benefits of more new businesses and a strengthened state economy mean you enjoy a better standard of living. Plant modernization also means you enjoy a healthier standard of living through use of advanced technology to protect the environment.

Completion of our 20-year plant modernization program means the beginning of a new era for Southeastern Michigan. An era brimming with promise, opportunity and assurances of ample energy. Energy today, plus energy that will take all of us into the 21st century.

STATE OF MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES HAZARDOUS WASTE TREATMENT FACILITY LICENSE AMENDMENT APPLICATION PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has received an application from Michigan Disposal Incorporated for an amendment to their hazardous waste disposal facility operating license. If granted the amendment would allow the facility to solidify ignitable wastes, industrial solvents and process wastes at an existing hazardous waste treatment facility at 49350 North I-94 Service Drive in Belleville, Michigan, prior to landfilling. The application was filed to comply with Act 64, P.A. 1979, as amended, "The Hazardous Waste Management Act." The Department of Natural Resources has reviewed the application and drafted amendments to the existing operating license to regulate the proposed additional waste types. The Department invites public input during the review process. So that interested persons can review the application, and draft operating license amendments, copies of both have been placed at the clerk's office at Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, Belleville, Michigan (telephone (313) 699-2001) where they are available for public inspection. Copies are also available for inspection at the Lansing headquarters of the Department of Natural Resources, Hazardous Waste Division, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan. Copies may be purchased for the cost of reproduction. Contact the Hazardous Waste Division at (517) 373-2730 for instructions on how to order.

PUBLIC HEARING AND COMMENT PERIOD

A public hearing has been scheduled by the Department of Natural Resources where Staff members will explain the application from the Michigan Disposal Company and the draft operating license to regulate the proposed activity. An opportunity for interested persons to make comments on the application will be offered. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on August 1, 1983 at:

Van Buren Township Hall
46425 Tyler Road
Belleville, Michigan 48111
Written comments on the application or draft operating license may be submitted to the DNR at the address shown at the end of this notice. Comments must be received no later than August 12, 1983. Written comments on the application should be directed to:
Department of Natural Resources
Hazardous Waste Division
Technical Services Section
